Have known

Conroe High School has always had a certain reputation of excellence and this year was no different. It began during the summer when various sports teams and support groups began their practices to prepare for upcoming seasons. These organizations contributed many hours of their time and made sure Conroe High was well represented taking its familiar place on top of the heap.

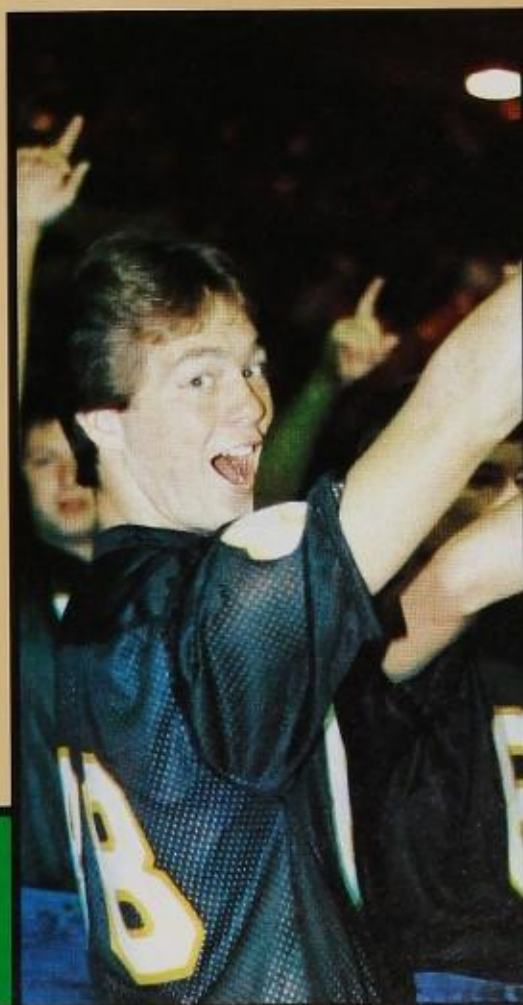

With the beginning of the new school year came some changes. The most obvious change was the installation of the new principal, Mr. Dave Figari. Although there was an adjustment period in the beginning, the students and faculty welcomed Mr. Figari and everything fell into place with no problems. The new tardy policy sent students rushing through the halls in fear of getting ASD if they were tardy. The new policy stipulated that one day ASD would be assigned after one tardy rather than two, as it was previously. ASD was full every Monday and Wednesday until everyone got the hang of getting to class in the six minutes allowed between classes.

The overall spirit at Conroe High was at an all time high. The pep rallies continued to produce creative ways to boost that tiger spirit every Friday morning. With some pep rallies being held before school, it was anticipated that turn out would be low, but many students turned down the opportunity of an extra hour of sleep and came down and . . . SHOWED THEIR SPIRIT!!!

Showing Our Spirit

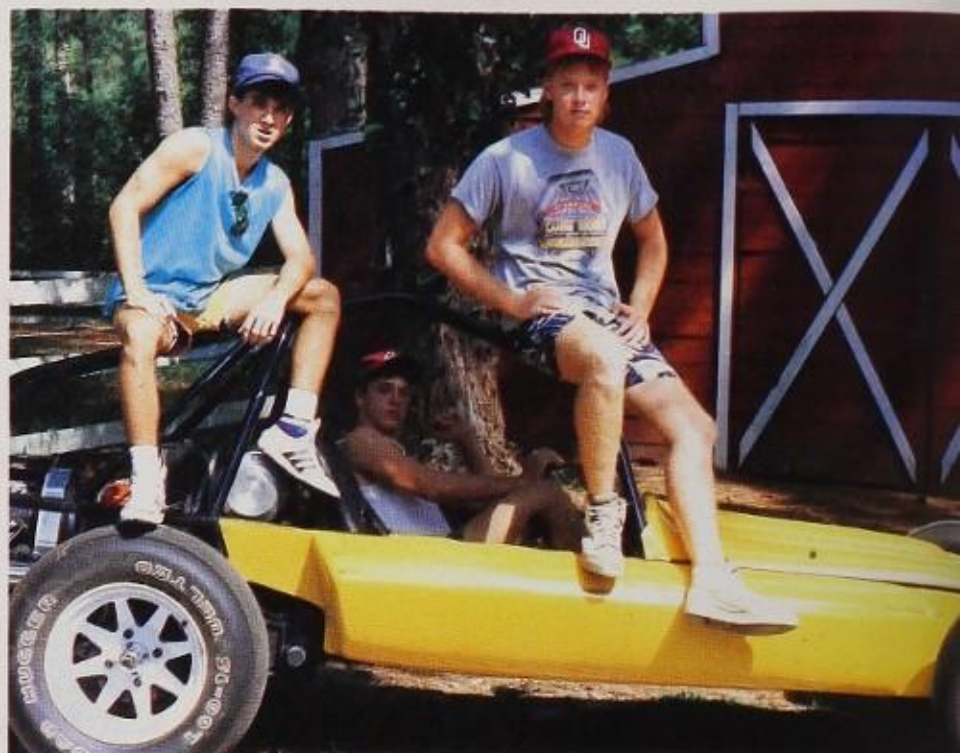

Summer Splash

The reality of summer was upon us; the school days had come to an end. That meant no more staying up late at night to do homework or to study for a test. Instead, our brains were put to the task of thinking of new ways to have fun.

Everyone had a different idea of how to spend their summer. A popular thought was sleeping late to catch up on all the sleep lost during the school year. Others went on vacations to far away exciting places, while some decided to use the resources around them for fun. Many people skied on Lake Conroe, rafted down rivers, or swam in pools. Some picked up new hobbies such as skateboarding and fishing. These were just a few chosen ways we spent our summer.

We realized our freedom was becoming limited as August started to come to a close. We began to prepare for the new school year by going to malls such as, Greenspoint or Deerbrook for school shopping. The football players, band, Golden Girls, Tiger Paws, and the volleyball players began their preparations by going to practice for their upcoming seasons.

School time finally arrived and everyone had something to talk about. Each of us shared our experiences of the summer and with the departure of summer, arrived the tedious task of, once again, homework.

Patrice Stockton's friends came together at Casa Elena to wish her a Happy Birthday!
Eric Smith executed a perfect skate boarding maneuver.
The band practiced to perfection.

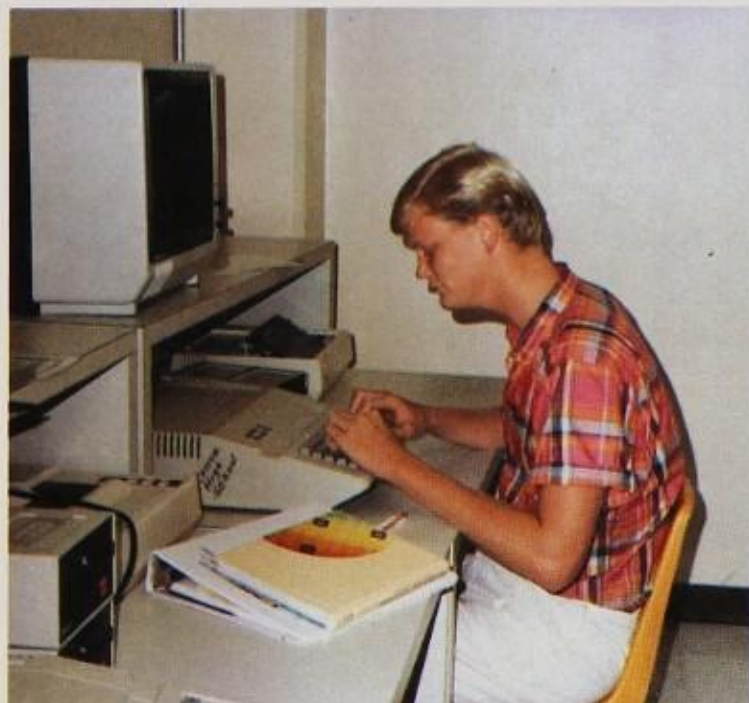

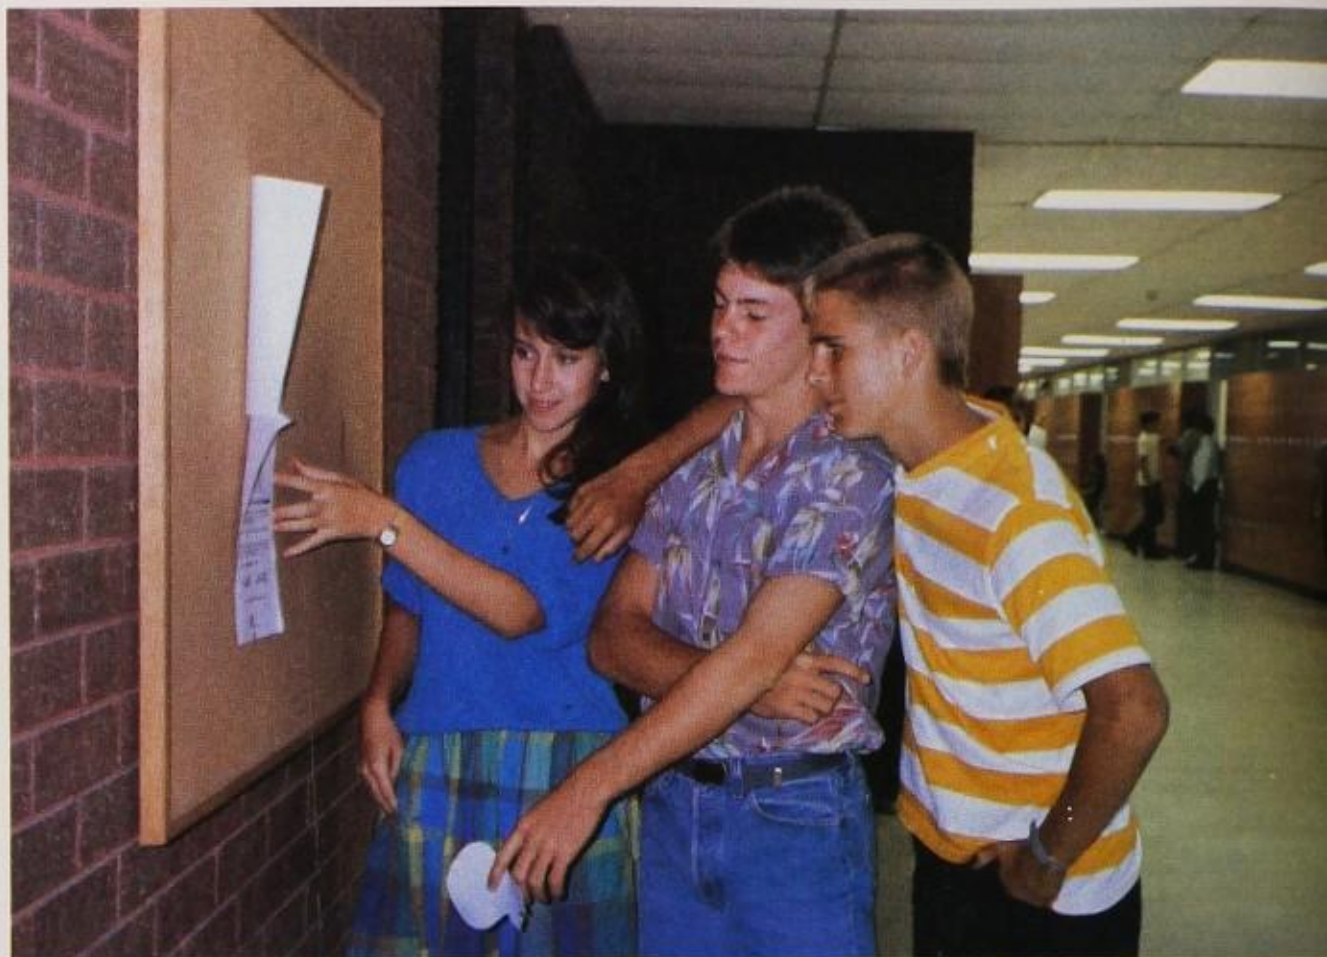

Steven Klotz slalomed on Lake Conroe. Rusty Hruska jumped off the cliffs in Colorado.

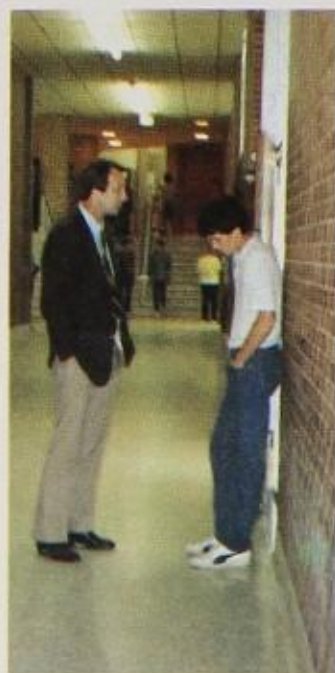

Susan Zinneker played tennis during the hot summer months. Keatha Avery helped her sister, Marliesa, through Golden Girl camp. After a hard day at yearbook camp, Tara Vick, Shannon Webb, Staci McHam, and Nancy Simutis enjoyed a quick rest.

After lunch, Laurie Reaves, Jason Washburn, and Brian Butler checked the bulletin board. Michelle Cockrill took time off from her daily work to read a note. Bruce Ivester showed his love for computers.

Lunchtime gave Scotty Simpson and Danny Reed time to exchange homework. A look of disappointment fell over Michael Sullivan's face as Mr. Cable reprimanded him. During lunch, Joi Rankin and Paige Jester enjoyed the break from their tight schedule.

Day To Day

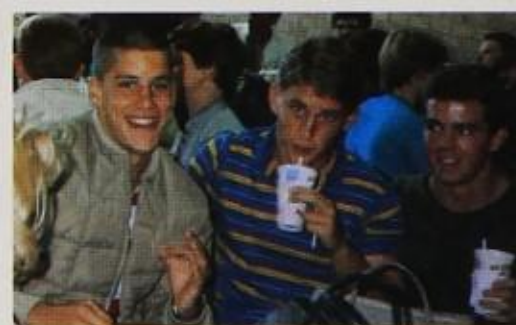

The 7:25 bell signaled the beginning of a typical day. The halls immediately filled with energetic and enthusiastic students attempting to start the day off right. As the 7:35 bell sounded, students rushed to class trying not to get caught by the new tardy policy. Although the new rules seemed tough, it didn't dampen their spirit. The morning was filled with endless activity. Each classroom contained students eager to learn while having a good time.

The lunch periods, beginning at 10:57, were a time for catching up on the day's gossip while some students rushed to do unfinished homework. For many, the need to study seemed more important than eating, but everyone managed to fit in a quick bite to eat. Before the end of lunch, everyone had made plans for the weekend, found out how hard the English test was, and heard who had broken up with whom.

The afternoon classes went by fast with everyone anticipating the 2:35 bell. For many, however, the last bell didn't mean the end of a busy day. The parking lot filled with students rushing to after school practice, fighting traffic to get to work on time and trying to make it to A.S.D. by 2:45.

Throughout the day, each student strived for the best. Everyone tomorrow. Each day was always remembered, as was the pride everyone showed in their school. This pride would never die.

Shannon Hvezdos watched Monica Pollock as she practiced her poise.

Nicole Ferguson and Kim Eckstrum sharpened up their typing skills.

Greg Jensen hung out by the cafeteria before school.

Christine Amato, Julie Moss, and Cynthia Reed got the latest scoop at lunch.

Robbie Pilkenton took it easy as he waited for the bell to ring.

Trent Kelley, Heath Cook, and Scott Anderson tried out the new item at lunch, "slushies."

Russell Ferrell rushed to get to class on time.

Twist & Shout

Although some pep rallies were before school, and those few extra minutes in bed were very tempting, that unsurpassed Conroe Tiger spirit usually won over sleep. The class of '87 supported the Tigers with unique spirit all their own, while the juniors held onto their reputation as the "fun bunch." Sophomores came through with some impressive v-i-c-t-o-r-y yells. Freshmen seemed a bit confused in the beginning, but in the end they, too, figured out what "that Conroe spirit" was all about. Competition for the spirit stick was at an all time high. Each class wanted to show that they had the winning tradition of the Tigers on their minds. The cheerleaders were better than ever, and the band proved they were still the marching band of Texas. The Golden Girls and Tiger Paws also played major roles in the year's pep rallies. The Gi-Gi's showed their spirit with dances to songs like Twist and Shout and The Bird.

The pep rallies of 1986-87 most definitely displayed the spirit that was held by all of Conroe High's students.

The class of '87 proved they could really ROCK!
Denise Keener concentrated on her flag routine.

Billy Ballard crab-walked his way through the obstacle course.

Tiger Paw, Phyllis Vohshn, helped "shade out" A & M Consolidated.
Gretchen Ayres, Shannon Hvezdos, and Kim Cromwell dressed for the future and showed their spirit at the pep rally.

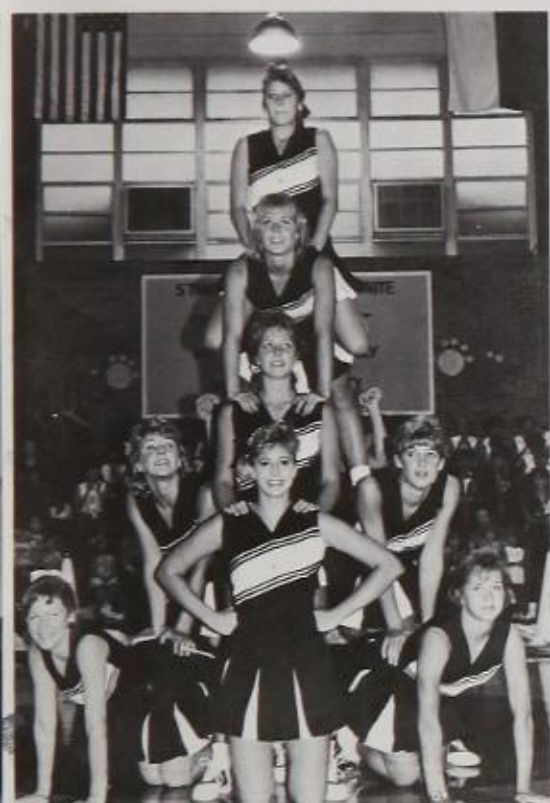

The J.V. cheerleaders asked everyone to show their spirit by "raiding the hornets."

Jason and Jeremy Laningham had that look of Tiger pride. Coach Crowl interviewed the noble Coach Harwood at the pep rally.

The varsity cheerleaders built that spirit up! With a Rebel Yell the seniors cried "more, more, more!" Rebecca Grindrup played the school song on her piccolo. The freshmen figured out what the Conroe spirit was all about.

Seniors

The Seniors of '87 rocked their way into the new year with a style all of their own. Our friends, who we had grown up around, were now the leaders of the pack. This was their year! Every moment counted, and no time was spared. They started making plans for the future and began pursuing their goals. They anticipated the ordering of caps and gowns and dreaded the filling out of college entrance forms. Their minds were put to the task of deciding which college to go to and what to major in. Even though "senioritis" struck, the seniors looked forward to the next stage in their life.

Warren Johnson let everyone know what his favorite fruit was. Mark Janowski, Bruce Garder, and Ronald Blum added a little "pizazz" to government. Linay Chalmers diligently worked to complete her homework assignment. Mark Roberts took a break from an in-depth discussion. Coby Hancock, Jeff Traylor and Brian Auld hammed it up.

Juniors

"Two down and two to go." That was the attitude of the juniors as they began their first year as upperclassmen. The year was one filled with many expectations but also many responsibilities. Everyone began to think about what would happen after their years at Conroe High. This was their last year to pull up their grades before their senior year of high school. It was a time for study but also a time for fun.

Throughout the year, the juniors constantly showed their spirit. Everything started off by choosing a class ring, the only lasting memory of Conroe High. After this, the juniors took the P.S.A.T. and the Teams test. Thoughts of college were on everyone's mind. Powder Puff came up, followed by magazine sales. After everyone had turned in their junior research papers, the responsibilities lessened. As the end of the year rolled around, and the juniors had finally gone to prom, they realized that they only had one year at Conroe High School left.

The junior guys strutted their stuff at powder puff practice.

Mike Petro, Paul Hansen, and Robbie Pinkerton stuck together.

During a junior class meeting, Brandon Creighton, Heath Cook and Eric Herd posed.

Michelle Cockrill, Teresa DePriest, Carla Fortenberry and Christina Durbin chatted.

Keith Carnes gave us that familiar "confused chemistry" look.

Sophomores

The sophomores, finally out of the tank, began to realize how fast those high school years went by. Many of them showed up the first day with a new look of pride, assuredness, and for some, even a new car. No longer the babies, but the semi-forgotten middle kids, the sophomores realized that even though they would have no prom tickets or class rings, they still had the spirit of Conroe. Sophomores showed their spirit at pep rallies, winning the spirit stick at the first pep rally and many after that. They went on to show their spirit at games and in every aspect of school life. The sophomores had finally begun to take their place at Conroe High. They felt a new sense of independence. No longer having to be chauffeured around by parents and older friends, the sophomores felt important and like individuals who had many new responsibilities ahead of them. The class of 1989 had definitely started out on the right foot.

Jason Allen relaxed for a while in the locker room before continuing his long day.

The camera caught Lisa Purcell's eye. Patrice Stockton, Melinda Stillings, and Jennifer Loosier said "cheese." Sophomores showed their undying spirit at a pep rally.

Freshmen

The ever popular "fish" showed up the first day with a look of total disillusion on their faces. The class of 1990 had arrived. They were prepared and ready for almost anything that came their way. Maybe not everything, the first pep rally they were a little stumped and really did not understand, but after a while, they too, had that Conroe spirit. The fact that they had to eat in the "fish tank" was also sometimes a crashing blow to their growing self esteem as high school students. They took their traditional place in front of the freshman building each morning and showed incentive that looked as if it would last them a full four years.

The freshmen figured out what to do at a Conroe pep rally. Sam Neeves and Christine Joiner were two freshmen who were lucky enough not to have to eat their lunch in the "tank." Rachelle Lee enjoyed English in Mrs. Wooton's class. Sharing a seat in the cafeteria, Amy Johnston and Sandy Jones enjoyed their lunches. The freshman tigers cheered the football team on at a pep rally. Well, are you?

The 1986-87 Homecoming Queen, Kelly McCarthy. Kami Beckworth received last minute instructions from Mrs. Lynch.

After school, Gina Mendez worked on Homecoming decorations. Kim Krupala and Steve Woodson awaited half-time.

Homecoming

Weeks before Homecoming, Conroe began getting ready. Decorations were made to welcome the graduates of 1944. Dance tickets were sold and the Homecoming queen candidates were selected. They were: Kami Beckworth, LaDonna DePriest, Kelly McCarthy, Allison Parson, Angie Pollock, Lori Singleton, LaShawn Williams, and Tara Vick.

The week before Homecoming was filled with many last minute preparations. Dates were made. Mums and boutonnieres were ordered. The Golden Girls, Tiger Paws, and Band spent the afternoons perfecting their performances, while the Conroe High football team practiced for the game against Kingwood.

The night of October 24 finally came and Conroe High was ready. The first half of the game went by quickly, ending with a score of Conroe 21, Kingwood 7. During half-time, the Homecoming Queen from 1944, Coralee Henderson, was introduced. The moment everyone had waited for finally came. The Homecoming Queen for 1986-87 would be Kelly McCarthy. Half-time ended and the game began again. Although there were some close calls during the second half, Conroe was the victor. The game ended with a score of Conroe 28, Kingwood 27. As the stadium cleared, the spirit of Homecoming lingered everywhere.

The Homecoming Queen of 1944, Coralee Henderson, was escorted by Jimmy Bailey. A group of seniors gathered at Cynthia Reed's house to make decorations. The Marching Band performed during halftime. Brandon Creighton hung up decorations for homecoming.

Candidate, Kami Beckworth, stood by her father, Sammy Beckworth.
William DePriest escorted his daughter, LaDonna DePriest.

Kelly McCarthy's escort was her brother, Lance McCarthy.
Billy Parson stood by his daughter, Allison Parson.

David Pollock escorted his daughter, Angie Pollock.
Lori Singleton's escort for the evening was her father, Herbert Singleton.

LaShawn Williams stood by her father, Elvis Williams.
Tara Vick was escorted by her father, Melvin Vick.

Two of a Kind

The difficult school year was easier to get through if you had that exceptional person to help you along the way. Students developed special relationships of trust and dedication to one another. Before these relationships were started, there was always that risk of being rejected. Once couples got into their relationships, the ice was broken, and the fun began. These special moments included studying together, homecoming, those special Friday nights, and best of all prom. The rest of the year was filled with close friendships and lots of special moments.

Wendy Davis and Shawn David Reaves played the parts of Mickey and Minnie Mouse.

Ray Deyoe and Jeri Straughn shared a quick hug on the way to class. Stunned by the camera, Lisa Stevens and Keith Carnes enjoyed lunch together.

How could Pete Ringo resist Sivi Audirsch with a face like that?

Stephanye Scott gave Keith Isbell moral support while doing his schoolwork.

Donna Dockery and Jeff Sullivan were sharing a friendly embrace.

Catherine Clay and Eric Thompson were happy to flash their smiles.
Coby Hancock and Ashlea Rice stopped after the pep rally for a quick picture.
Terri Busbee gave Grant Larson her magic touch.
Chris Husby and Sonya Smalley shared a seat at lunch.

Jeff McLaren and Piper Waidie were glad the school day had come to an end.
Julie Pever and Michael Butler: have they been together forever?
Staci McHam and Mike Dalton enjoyed a friendly evening of fun at the Halloween Cotillion.
Jamie Coumbe and Patrice Stockton, what a cute couple!

David Self, Jason Norling, David Burrows, Phil Gore, Todd Meloncon, Eric Stover and Bryan Hartman demanded attention.
Thinking over a problem in deep thought were Brad Reeves and Brian Auld.

Cindi Matthews and Allison Parson boy-watched together at lunch.
Liz Rogerson and Kim Mathey proudly displayed the fact that they were members of the swim team.
Kelly Ganek and Tracie Tyrone took a break from the game to give each other a quick hug.
Sherri Kowalski and Karen Staggs stopped to get one last look at Conroe High.
Marcus Wright, Bruce Gardner, Brian Auld, Tara Vick and Shane Wilburn had that special quality that friendships are made of.

Friends Forever

Looking at the picture sitting on my dresser, I remembered the times I shared with my friends. None of us would have ever guessed that we would soon part and go our separate ways. We were inseparable; all of our dreams and deep dark secrets were shared with each other. There was not a day that we did not spend seeking out new adventures and ways to have fun. Nor was there a night that we didn't spend with each other cruising through Conroe or Houston. We accepted each other for who and what we were. We shared in each other's heartaches and triumphs as if they were our own. All of us were friends forever and that would never change, because the memories that we made lasted forever.

Kathrine Baker and Nancy Simutis shared a friendly hug.
Lori Cox let Lesah Fry in on the latest gossip.
Lesley Twiss helped Tracy Satterfield out on a difficult problem.
These guys spent their free time outside hamming it up.
Mandie Stewart, Missy McCoy, Holly Aduddle, Brad Gillespie and Laura Kirby stopped for a breath after a long hike from the back of the parking lot.

The Testing Scare

This past year, all the teachers in Texas schools were required to take the TECAT. This test was a generalized exam to assure the state that all the teachers in Texas possessed the basic skills of reading, mathematics, and essay writing.

This test was received with mixed emotions. Most teachers felt this was an insult to their intelligence. They believed that they should not have to prove their literacy with a test when they already completed a college degree and years of teaching experience. Another factor which made some teachers less than enthusiastic about the TECAT was that they had to prove their competency in fields that did not relate to their previous education or everyday experiences.

The state, on the other hand, claimed that this exam was of minimal skills only and that they should have no trouble passing. They reinstated, that this was not a test to question their competency, but to prove that they were indeed capable of teaching. Although the state assured teachers the exam was just of minimal skills, a little under 10% failed and did not receive their jobs the following year.

Due to uncertainty and some hostility on the part of the teachers, this test proved to be a hardship for both the faculty as well as the students. Once the testing was completed, though, the spirits and tensions of the teachers lifted immediately. Even though the TECAT was a trying time, it did serve to convince the state, as well as society, that our teachers are quite competent.

Teachers were forced to concentrate for long hours so they would make high scores. Mrs. Peters and Mrs. Raica compared notes after the exam.

Mrs. Mattingly was disgusted at her student's work.

New Spirit at the Top

To begin a new year, Conroe High School brought in a new acting principal, Mr. David Figari. As principal, he accepted many new and important responsibilities. The most important and time consuming was enacting new policies and reforms such as strict and more detailed discipline, less extracurricular activities during school hours, and stricter policies in general. Having to draft and enforce these new policies placed an enormous amount of responsibility as well as blame on one man's shoulders. Although Mr. Figari had this tremendous burden to bear, he still found time to visit with the students on a personal basis and to attend the majority of extracurricular games and meets. Although making these appearances cost Mr. Figari a large amount of personal time and effort, they served to bring him down to a more familiar level and showed that the Fighting Tiger spirit was also one of his priorities. Even though Mr. Figari had a tough job to accomplish, he approached the situation with optimism and succeeded with confidence.

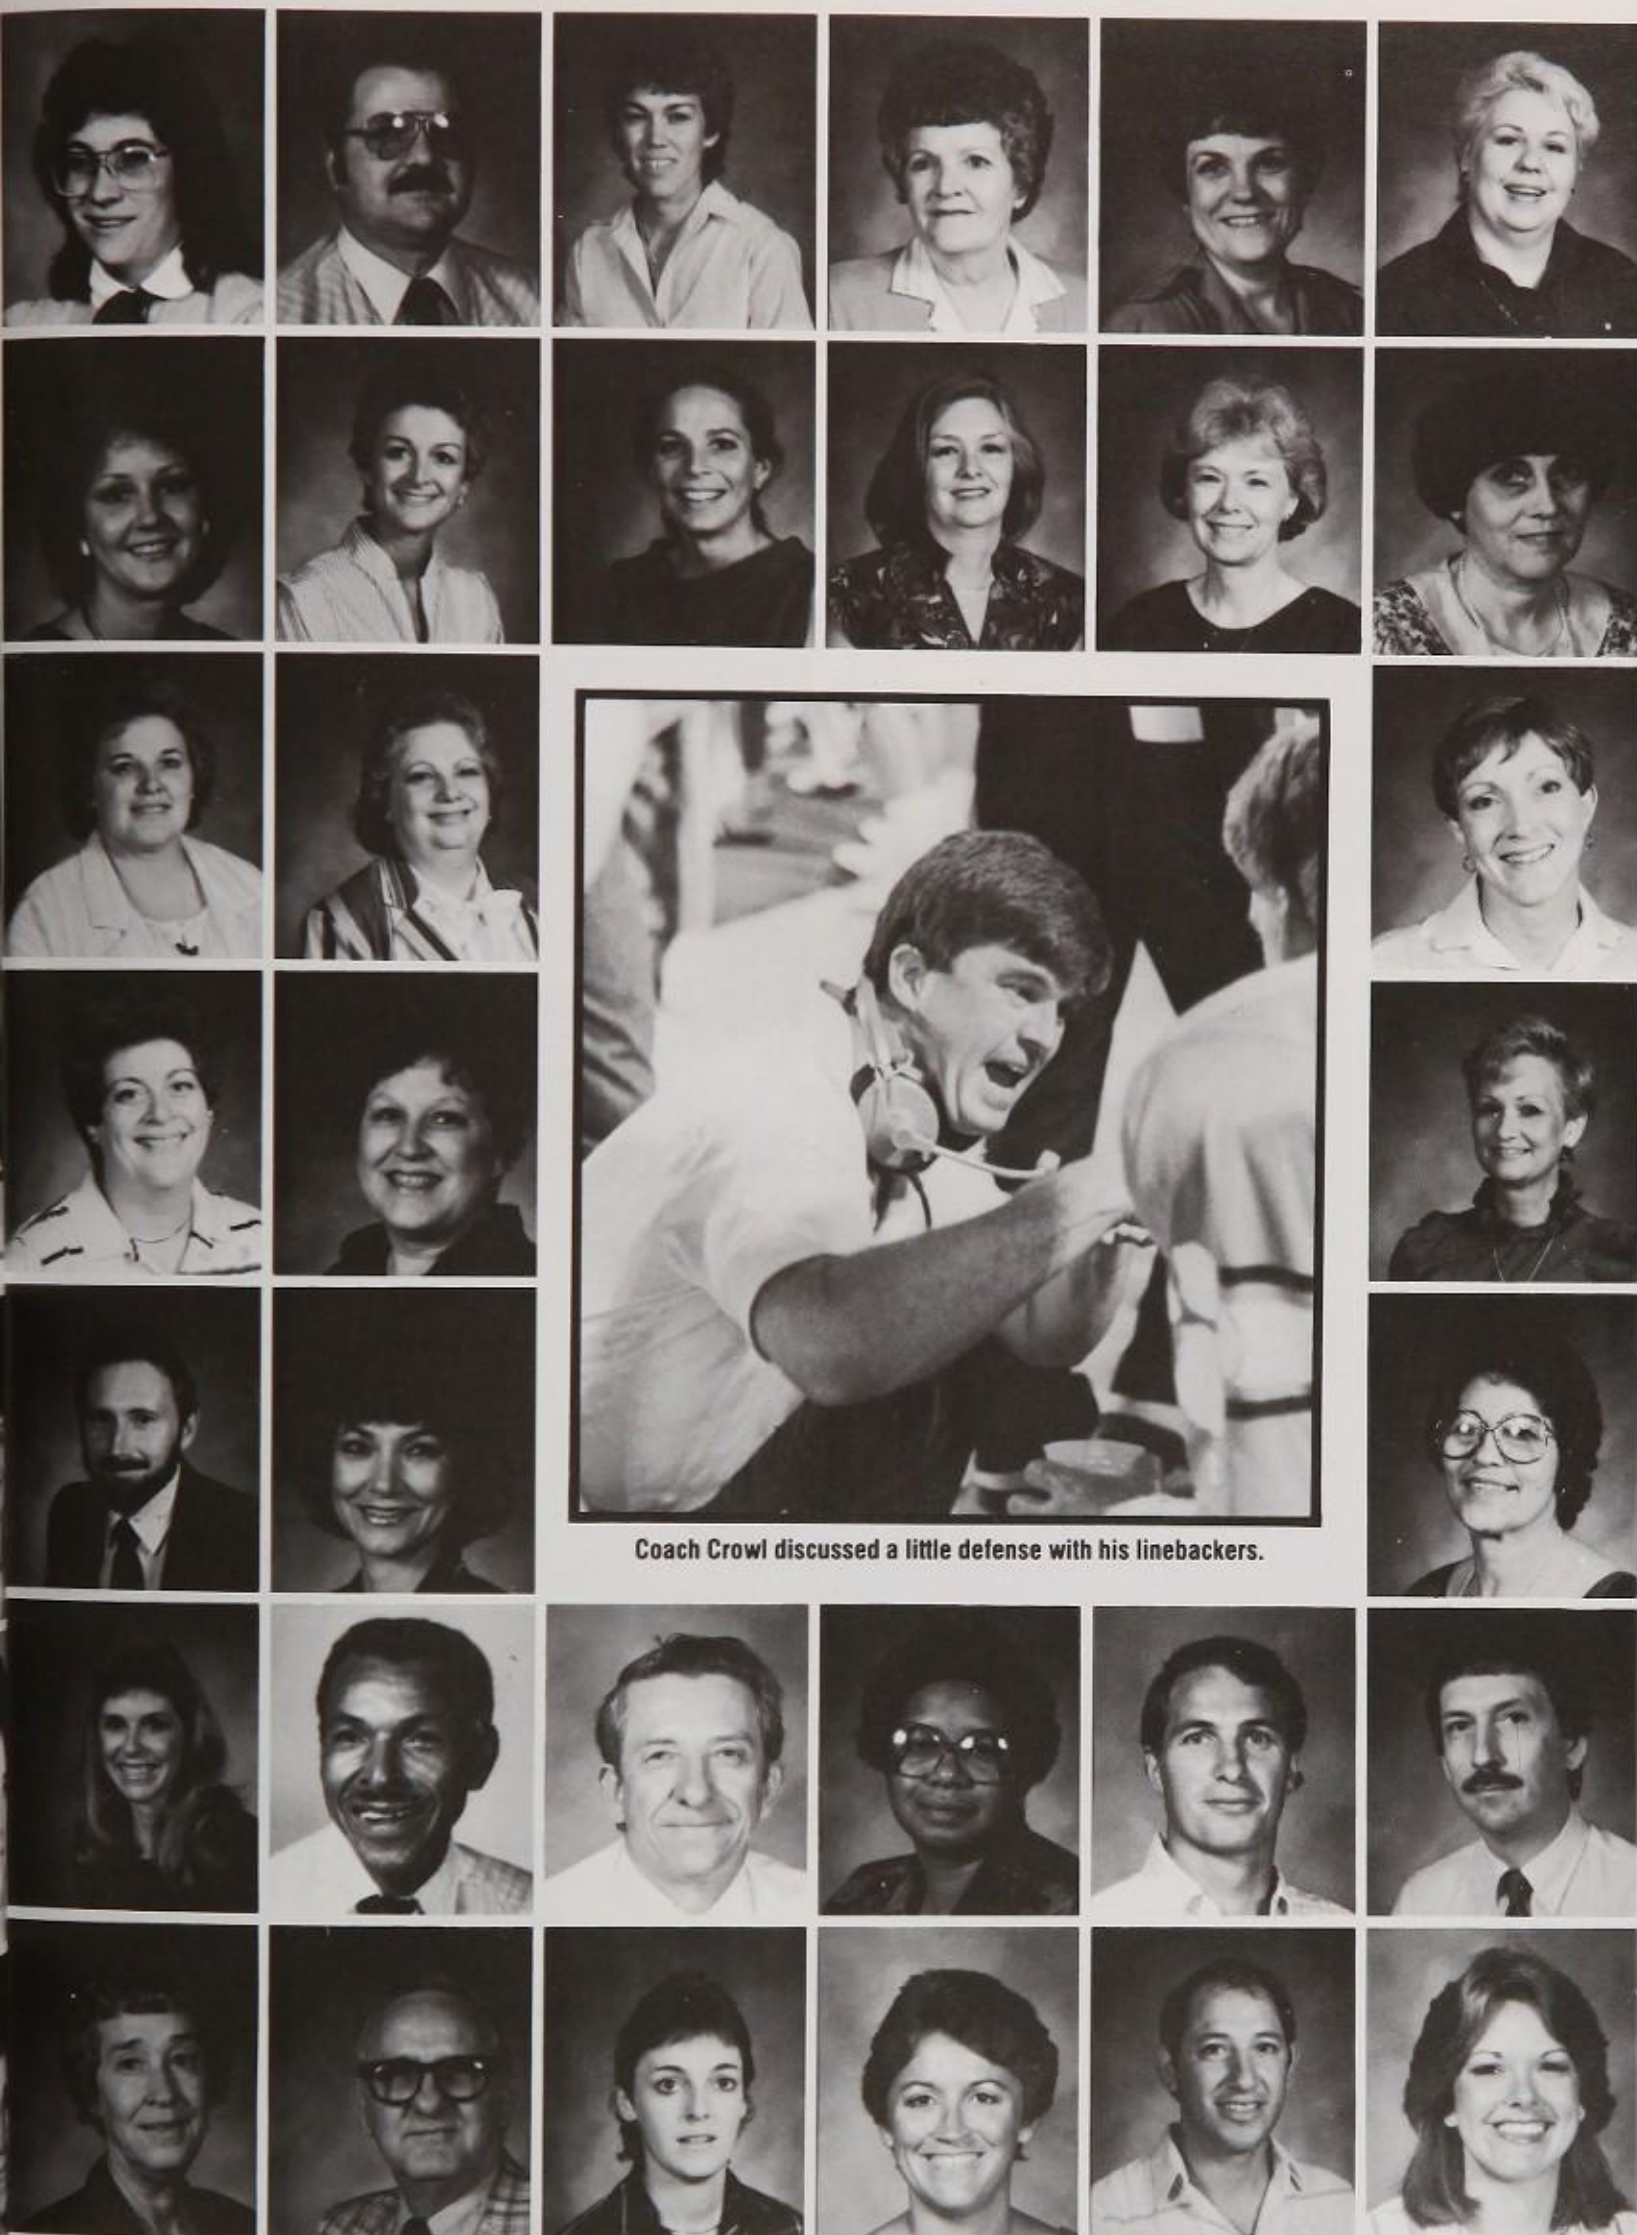

Mr. Figari took a break after a long, hard day.
Mr. Figari discussed athletic policies with the Athletic Director, Bobby Weise.

 Hey Sweetie
 Can you believe we were going to graduate pretty soon? Now we won't be able to bitch about C.H.S. anymore!
 I'm really glad that we had some classes together this year! Accounting was okay but we had fun in 3rd being office aides! (I don't think we ever really did anything!) I've known you for the longest time & you are such a sweet person! Try to stay in trouble this summer!
 next year & you are out of trouble this summer!
 I love you!

Showing Our Spirit

The Spirit Shines Through

The Student Council members were elected at the beginning of the year by the student body to support and represent the students. Throughout the whole year members supported the student body in many activities. At the beginning of the year members welcomed the teachers with a carnation. Weeks before Homecoming, members were in charge, with the help of the student body, to decorate the halls with Homecoming decorations. The class of 1944 was warmly welcomed with their beautiful decorations.

The club sponsored many fundraisers this year which were all a big success. During the Thanksgiving and Christmas holidays members sponsored a food and toy drive to help the needy. With the enormous help of the student body the drive was very successful. Another way members raised money was with a successful car wash during the spring. Not only was money raised, but the community's cars came clean. The last fundraiser was a contest between the classes. Each of the four classes had an opportunity to contribute pennies to their classes. The class with the most amount of pennies won the contest.

Whenever the students had problems with a rule of the school, the Student Council talked about the problems and tried to help in any way they could.

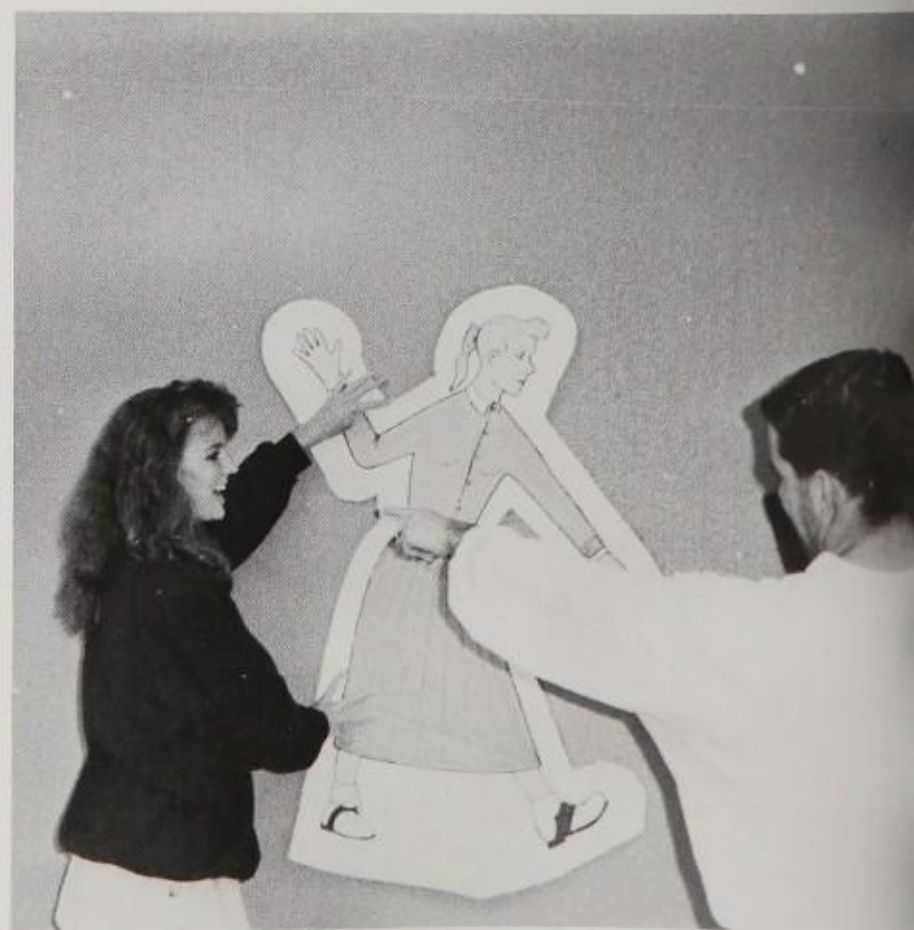

While members waited patiently, Joe Carroll and Bill Swoap thought up ideas to help the student body.

Promoting Their Spirit Through Good Sportsmanship

The Good Sportsmanship League, or GSL, was headed by Nola Boughton. The students selected for GSL were few but very proud, because they were to promote good sportsmanship and friendship between our school and others in all sports. They were to be examples of a good sport. These students were permitted to walk across the football field and present the opposing team with a gift to show good sportsmanship. At the homecoming game and at the McCullough game the whole GSL squad walked across the field with a gift to show good sportsmanship. At the homecoming game and at the McCullough game the whole GSL walked across the field to keep up with traditions. While the members were walking across the field, another member was up in the press box about to recite the prayer of the week. Another tradition of the GSL was the Friendship luncheon with McCullough. The GSL was also responsible for a bulletin board which usually displayed the "player of the week" and the upcoming holidays.

Youth Spirit Through Christ

Glenda Fry, Dorothy Graham, and Mary Summy were the three sponsors for YFC or Youth for Christ. YFC was a club that was open to all students of all churches. The purpose of this club was for fellowship, Christian growth, and for the witness of Christ on campus. Each meeting had a specific purpose to help the members learn these three important tasks. YFC had no means of fund raisers but as a tradition the club traveled to nursing homes at Christmas time for caroling. Because this club was so successful, there were eight elected officers to keep it running smoothly.

Leo Club Spirit Roars

The Leo Club certainly proved there is strength in numbers. Despite the group's size, the accomplishments for the community were incredible. With a never ending dedication to the welfare of others, the members of the Leo Club put forth a concerted effort in helping the less fortunate in the Conroe area. The Lions Club Carnival was used as a community fund raiser for the needy. Then, as an in-school activity, the ever popular Sadie Hawkins Dance was sponsored to, once again, raise money for needy families. Under the direction of Mrs. Potter and student officers, the Leo Club led a group successful in its stated purpose: a club to service the community.

HEALTHY SPIRITS

Health Occupations Students of America or HOSA was sponsored by Jean Rivet. The purpose of this club was to develop leadership skills in the Health Care Field and educate the public in good health practices. The club did blood pressure screening and taught the Red Cross Basic Aid Training program in a local private school in the spring. The students rotated through selected departments in the hospital to assist in career selection. The club members learned entry level skills in several areas and then practiced them in a lab setting. The members also competed in contests demonstrating those skills. At the competitions the members won first place in the Parliamentary Procedure, second place in CPR, First Aid, and third place in Job Seeking Skills. HOSA also had the Annual Area Vocational Bar-B-Que and Fair as a fundraiser. To raise various sources of money the club sells other items throughout the year.

Spirit, The Intellectual Way

Psychology was a club in which the students learned how to get along with others, accept responsibilities, and most of all group cooperation. The purpose of Psychology was providing for application of concepts learned in psychology through the socialization process and through community service activities. Each year, to follow tradition, the club made Christmas cards, which also served as a fundraiser. These cards went on sale for those who chose to send them to their close friends or relatives. The club also helped out with community services by delivering these Christmas cards and fruits to the Autumn Hills Nursing Home. A scholarship, which the club sponsored, was given to a graduating member who planned to major in psychology. The Psychology club also had a Christmas party, a Sweetheart Banquet, and to celebrate the club's success, an End-of-Year Banquet was given.

Projectors of Community Spirit

Key Club was a service organization which aided the community through area service projects. Members bettered themselves while attending to the needs of others. Due to the overwhelming size of the club, the largest club on campus, eight officers were elected so that the organization might run more efficiently. In November, Family Night was held, which was a huge success. Also in November, members worked with the United Way in order to raise money for the less fortunate. The annual Powder Puff football game was played on November 1, which showed how full November was. A few fortunate members were chosen to attend the Key Club Convention held each year. Toward the end of the year, the Key Club Talent Show was held, which provided an enjoyable evening for all. The Key Club Banquet brought the hectic year to a close as all members reflected on the year's activities.

Powder Puff

After the practice sessions ended and the junior and senior girls geared up for what they were sure would be an exciting test of strength and agility, the annual Powder Puff football game, sponsored by the Key Club, was ready to begin. November 1 proved to be a fun while injury-filled day. The girls took the field at 3:00 p.m. on a gorgeous, sunny Saturday. With the seniors dressed in black jerseys and the juniors adorned in white jerseys, the girls embarked on a journey that would be implanted in their memories forever. They were supposed to play a fair game of flag football, but ended up in a knock-down-drag-out battle for the glory. After many injuries and much agony, the seniors proved to be superior with an impressive 24-8 victory over the juniors. Although they played as if the world championship were at stake, they enjoyed an afternoon of sportsmanship and competition.

Let the Spirit Muve You!

Sporting its largest membership ever, Mu Alpha Theta, under the direction of Mrs. Mattingly, Mrs. Dunn, and Mrs. Volkmer, was a highly successful club. Monthly meetings started the year off, with all meetings being early morning ones. Between the hectic schedules of the members and the sponsors, mornings seemed to be the only time they could get together. The first few meetings were very busy, as members planned and executed the induction of new members. Because of its high caliber and requirements for admission, only the elite of the math classes were granted membership. The purpose of the club was to promote the scholarship, enjoyment, and understanding of mathematics among high school students. Under the leadership of the five strong officers, this purpose was upheld and the members did much to be proud of.

Gifted With Creative Spirit

The purpose of the Troika staff was to publish a literary magazine and to promote student interest in creative and imaginative writing. Throughout the year Mrs. Weise helped the members publish the best Troika ever. The Troika included prose, poetry, artwork, and photography submitted by the student body. For the first time, there was a contest awarding special recognition for the best pieces in the various sections. Students anxiously awaited the spring issue after viewing a special preview issue in December. This year the Troika expanded the students' creative horizons by making available a varied array of interest.

Channeling Spirits into Lasting Memories

What does it mean to capture the memories of a whole year and put them in print? How does it feel to immortalize an entire student body? One very dedicated group of students holds the answers to these questions. These students make up the Flare staff. Starting early in the summer, while others were basking in the glory of the season, members of the Flare Staff were out selling ads to finance what they hoped to be the best publication of the Flare ever. Soon after, the group, accompanied by their mentor, Cindy Dodd, made the trek to Stephen F. Austin State University to partake in the Communications '87 Festival. While there, this group represented the true essence of Conroe High School — excellence. The Flare staff brought home the highest award given, Yearbook of Distinction, and other individual layout design and photography awards.

Amidst all of the dedicated hard work, fun was far from ignored. The weary but fun-seeking campers attended all of the organized social events. (and even some unorganized ones.) Regrettably the staffers had to pack up their clothes and other possessions and return to the old homestead.

When school commenced, all of the Flare staff members reorganized their priorities, putting the yearbook at the top of the list. After grueling deadlines, heated discussions, and various other stress-related activities, the product of everyone's hard work and determination arrived — the 1987 Flare. Merely looking at the joy in the eyes of the student body was enough payment for the blood, sweat, and tears that went into making the book. Needless to say the Flare staff achieved their goals of putting on paper what made 1987 the best year ever.

Putting the Pride Back into the Press

The Triumph Staff got rolling with a great start. The staff attended journalism camp at Stephen F. Austin University during the summer. At camp, members recalled lots of fun teamed with lots of learning. "We learned about newspaper production while having a blast!"

Many members of the crew placed in competitive events while at camp. Joni Miller received the first place award for layout and design, while Amesha Chadwell, the Triumph Staff Editor, placed second in layout design. Receiving third place in creative writing were Tina Deveny and Paige Jester. In the notebook category, Becky Wessel received a third place award. Also, Heather Wolfe received first place notebook award and the overall most aspiring journalistic award, a great honor. Finally, receiving the second place Burman prize and the third prize in design, was Jennifer Allen.

Upon return from camp, staffers got busy selling ads for the 1986-1987 football program. Every year the Triumph Staff is responsible for producing and selling the programs. This year marked record ad sales as local merchants supported the Tigers despite the declining economy.

The fall semester was remembered for lots of hard work, fast study, and a lot of thinking on their feet. After producing the October, November, and December Triumphs, staffers celebrated with a Christmas bash at Joni Miller's house. Everyone joined in on a hayride before they toasted with wassail to another successful semester.

With lots of hard work and determination, staffers prepared for the spring ILPC State Convention and contest. Their efforts paid off both in the ILPC and in the UIL competitions. Overall, staffers agreed that being a member of the Triumph Staff had been an experience never to be forgotten. Lasting friendships along with great memories were products of this year's staff.

Tailors of Spirit

The members of FHA, Future Homemakers of America, began this year with anticipation and excitement. They were determined to promote friendship, fellowship, and leadership in home economics related activities. The members improved upon homemaking skills and prepared themselves for the future. They learned the importance of good nutrition and clothing, including texture and styles. The necessity of a close family unit and social acceptance was also stressed.

The members of FHA held fundraisers to support their annual Christmas Banquet and other social activities. In December, they elected Flare King and Queen candidates, as was their tradition. The members and supporters of FHA made this a successful year due to group participation and able leadership.

The Holy Spirit

With inspired leadership, organized programs, and enthusiastic club activities, Fellowship of Christian Athletes succeeded in reaching their ultimate goal — growing closer to God. With the faculty leadership of Coach Burkhalter, Coach Wellborn, Mrs. Lisa Doyle, and student officers, the meetings ran in an orderly, yet enthusiastic and spiritual, fashion. Throughout the year, club members participated in civically benevolent programs such as a canned food drive, the Adopt-A-Grandparent program, and community car washes. The most inspiring portion of the FCA's activities were the weekly meetings. The presidents of the Girls and Boys Huddles directed the sessions with a constant theme of enjoyment and spiritual growth. An interesting variety of area Christians came virtually every week to speak and share their personal stories and beliefs with the members. By sharing the beliefs of the Christian word with members, other students, and members of the community, FCA truly grew with the Holy Spirit.

Rekindling The Flame of Foreign Spirit

Sporting one of its largest memberships ever, the Spanish club embarked on a year dedicated to learning, fellowship, and fun. Under the guidance of Mr. Usher, Mrs. Smith, Mrs. Serrano, Mrs. Pokorski, and Mrs. Crum, the members started out on what would be their best year yet. The Spanish club, which consisted of all interested Spanish I, II, and III students, began filling its social calendar by holding its first official meeting. Here dues were paid which would be used to fund club outings such as a club meeting at Ricardo's Mexican Restaurant, an annual football game, and a Christmas party. Amidst all of the frolic, much knowledge was also gained by each member. Throughout the school year a better understanding of the Spanish language and culture was achieved by all through classroom participation and extracurricular fellowship. The end of the year found each member with an added appreciation of the Spanish language and together they all rekindled the flame of foreign spirit.

Reviving the Dead Language

Under the leadership of Mrs. Terri Carter, the Latin Club got ready for an exciting year. To start things off, they held their Togie-Hogie Back-to-School Party. Here the members dressed up in togas like the ancient Greeks. Next was their Halloween Costume Scavenger Hunt, at this fun event, the participants dressed up in costumes and went around to houses to try and get the things on their lists. At Christmas was their dinner, here the members actually got to dress normally. Then to end the year off the clubbers had their Awards Banquet. During the year they attended many competitions. These included Area A Gulf Coast Classical and the Texas State Junior Classical League. To go to these competitions they had to have a fundraiser. The Latin club members sold carnations on Valentine's Day and delivered them to the recipients. Through all of their parties and competitions they learned about the classical civilization.

How Do You Spell Spirit? G-E-R-M-A-N

The German Club met the new school year with an organized agenda filled with activities for advancing their knowledge of the German lifestyle. However, they managed to mix "business with pleasure." While learning about the language, the club's social calendar was full. Beginning with a trip to Bavarian Gardens and winding down with the Oktoberfest and their Christmas Party, it's no surprise the club's stated purpose was to socialize and learn German customs. These activities proved to be exciting social opportunities for the members in addition to the immeasurable knowledge gained about the German culture. The leadership of sponsor Ms. Paula Sather and student officers conducted a club successful in combining the enjoyable, social aspects and educational, learning experiences of German life in America and abroad.

International Spirit

With a fun-filled year ahead of them, the French Club members plunged full-speed-ahead into their activities. The first of the year brought with it a Get-Acquainted party where the members ate pizza and listened to a presentation about the posters, calendars, and picture frames they were going to sell for their fundraiser. They all were enthusiastic about this fundraiser, and sold many items for their activity fund. November 25 was the date for their next party, which was a B.Y.O.H. (Bring Your Own Hat) party. The students decorated hats and wore them at the party. December was when the annual dinner was held. This year it was at the Glass Menagerie in the Woodlands. Later in the year, they held more parties and had a great time. The members tied French customs into the parties and broadened their knowledge of the culture.

Spirit With a Dramatic Flair

The Drama Club embarked upon the new school year with true dramatic flair. The club's determination was to unite those interested in all forms of theatre including technical and theatrical. Also, the club was dedicated to the efforts of involving the community in Tiger Drama with creative advertising and spirit. In addition to involving others in drama, the club continually broadened their own theatrical horizons by attending productions of other high schools and acting companies. An interesting twist to the Drama Club was their involvement in the community. The majority of the members were active in CDD, Citizens for the Developmentally and Disabled Children. Throughout the year, the Drama Club sponsored a car wash to raise money for the children and spent time with them after school and on weekends. This year, under the supervision of sponsor Mrs. Putman and student officers, the Drama Club succeeded in uniting all in the name of drama.

Letting Their Spirits Soar Through Song

The establishment of a choir at Conroe High School was to promote chorale music. This year the choir kept this purpose foremost in their minds. They competed for district, region, area, and all-state membership. They also attended UIL Solo and Ensemble, UIL Concert, and Sight Reading contests. The choir is broken into three parts: show choir, girl's choir and the chorale. This year the chorale was selected to give a joint concert with the Sam Houston State University Choir in March. To raise funds to support the choir, the members sold Christmas Gift Stems and they held a sausage supper pop show. At the end of the year the members realized that their singing skills had improved under the direction of Mr. Ware. They had grown to work effectively as a group and accomplished the goals they had set at the beginning of the year.

Molding the Future

The Art Club participated in a lot of fun events this year. For football games and other special events they sold buttons that they had made. The Art Club also took a field trip to the Houston Museum of Fine Arts. They participated in many competitions. These included the harvest festival in the Woodlands, the western art show held in the Vocational rotunda, the scholastic art show in Houston, the Brazos Valley youth art show in Bryan, Texas, and the Spring Art Show. Throughout the year the students learned about the horizons of art history and art appreciation. This club wasn't all fun and no play though. They had a Christmas party and an end of the year awards party. The Art Club worked hard throughout the year yet they had fun doing so.

Spirit Instigators

The "Band of Texas" carried on the winning tradition for another year through its support of football and activities in school. Under the leadership and direction of John Rucker, the Conroe Marching Tiger Band evoked spirit and competition during football season and throughout the year. The band competed in numerous competitions, including the Marching Bands of America competition and the Tropicana Music Bowl, to name a few. Members put forth much effort, consisting of many hours of hard work and rehearsals, and their effort was rewarded many times over during the year.

Tradition was again upheld with the election of the Band Sweetheart and the presentation of this lucky young lady at the last home game. This year's sweetheart was chosen by a vote between all the senior girls in band. All band members voted for the sweetheart, and this year Cindy McMillan received the honor.

As a fund raiser, cookies were sold. Members got a break from fund raising, as they raised over $150,000 for their trip to the Tournament of Roses Parade last January.

The band did a fine job of carrying on tradition, and proved to everyone that determination was present. Through hard work and dedication, success was easily attainable.

New Uniforms Accompany Bold Spirit

It was a bitter cold Friday night at Buddy Moorehead Memorial Stadium. The crowd was alive with chorus after chorus of Tiger Boogie. Suddenly, all eyes turned to witness a long-standing tradition — the run through the victory line by the football players. Even though the fans had seen this event year after year, they noticed something different about this first victory line of the season — and they were right. The something different was the Tiger Paws.

Sporting new uniforms and new attitudes, the Tiger Paws embarked on what would be their best year ever. The small but spirited group started off by participating in grueling hours of afternoon practices during the hot Texas summer. After the troops were primed and ready to go, the first game came and the members got a well deserved chance to put to use their newfound skills. Their cheers echoed throughout the stadium and their victory line will live forever in the hearts of every football player and fan. Under the capable supervision of Mrs. Swannette Smith, the Tiger Paws also found time to decorate lockers every Thursday and to cheer the Tigers on during every pep rally. As Christmas time rolled around so did the time for parties and the pep squad was not left behind. This and the end-of-the-year banquet served as times for the members to join together and bask in the glory of newfound friendships and memories of a football season gone by. Members retired the year with an appreciation for organized support groups and newly discovered sense of responsibilities.

BUILD THAT SPIRIT UP

Working for many long hours during the summer at cheerleading camp and at after school practices, these girls perfected stunts, cheers, and chants to support many activities. They attended camp in San Marcos where they won superior ribbons and spirit sticks every night. To raise school spirit and as a fund raiser, J.V. Cheerleaders sold ribbons and pins prior to all the football games. Other fund raisers were a dance and a clinic to teach youngsters cheering techniques. Under the leadership of Ms. Swanzy and head cheerleaders, Jennifer Cheatham and Wendy Davis, the J.V. Cheerleaders had a fun and fulfilling year. Their cheering abilities helped all the J.V. teams to have a great year.

The Spirit Shines Through Leadership

Preparing for a year of cheering and boosting spirits, the cheerleaders began perfecting themselves at summer camp held in San Marcos, Texas. Here they were well rewarded in their cheering abilities with superior ribbons on their home cheer and chant, superior ribbons on the camp cheers and chants, and receiving a spirit stick every night.

These ten girls put a tremendous amount of time and spirit into supporting many activities. They cheered at football, basketball, volleyball, and soccer games throughout the year. Cheering at pep rallies also helped to boost students and football players for the upcoming games.

During September the cheerleaders sponsored a cheerleading clinic for children in kindergarten through the eighth grade. Their second fund raiser was a dance. A good time was had by all.

With the help of sponsor Annette Ferrell the cheerleaders were very successful in promoting school spirit.

TRADITION AND PRIDE INSPIRES EXCELLENCE

This year marked a new beginning for the 83 member Golden Girl organization. Each girl developed a new attitude dedicated to uniting the team into a "positive and pride-filled" organization that would represent the school better than ever. In addition to performing at every pep rally and football halftime, most home basketball games, four contests, and the Spring Show, the girls participated in spice-selling (a fund raiser), the Golden Girl clinic, the Christmas Parade, a special appearance at Del Lago, a Fellowship Day and the annual Christmas party.

The contests the girls entered were in LaPorte, Ft. Worth, Galveston and San Antonio, Texas. They created and performed award-winning choreography in the fields of jazz, high kick, and prop. Once contest season finalized, try outs were held and a new wave of excited and proud girls became the 1987-88 Golden Girls.

Spring Show, a travel in time and dance, was an enormous success with dances covering time from the Egyptian era through present and future days.

The year culminated with a Spring Banquet held at Del Lago where each girl, in the shine of a spotlight, was individually honored. Parents, friends and relatives all enjoyed the special, warm evening.

Tigerettes Are Tigeriffic

The Tigerettes is a service as well as a social organization. Tigerettes was opened to any girl that had earned a sports letter. The letters earned in any of the following sports: basketball, cross country, golf, swimming, tennis, track, and volleyball. For the past thirteen years, the Tigerettes have sold poppies on Veterans' Day for the benefit of Veterans of Foreign Wars. Plans for this year also included fund raisers to benefit a scholarship for a deserving Tigerette senior. The Tigerettes was sponsored by Mary Jo Parker and Laura Schmidt. Tigerettes was an organization that was admired for their dedication and hard work to improve the various women's sports.

The Star-Gazers

This year, the Astronomy class was one to be remembered. The students became more interested in the cosmos through the use of Carl Sagan's book which, by coincidence, was entitled "The Cosmos." Being the only Astronomy class on campus, Mrs. Spell was able to spend more time teaching, theorizing, and discussing the concepts of interstellar space with her students. Through night labs, the students were able to turn the learning experience into reality by seeing such things as the rings on Saturn and the moons of Jupiter. The students also had a chance to witness a show screened especially for them at Sam Houston State Universities planetarium. This also expanded their knowledge of the universe by "billions" of brain cells. They ended their semester by taking a field trip to the local theater to critique the newest addition to the Star Trek Series. "Star Trek IV: The Voyage Home." The students enjoyed the chance to discuss these "billions of billions" of ideas and thoughts with Mrs. Spell and wanted to thank her for her patience and understanding.

The Super Quiz

Academic Decathlon had its second exciting year. Under the sponsorship of Mrs. Janet Emmons and Miss Dee Fach, the members were in exciting competition. The Regional Meet was held in January at Bryan, where the team competed against teams from all over Texas.

This year the members were: Shane Byers, Dorothy Dabrowski, La Donna DePriest, John Dindot, Laura Hicks, Vaishali Mahajan, Renee Mitchell, Lauren Moody, Raye-Dawn Rodenburg, Brian Severa, Scott Taylor, and Becky Wessel.

Members were selected through teacher and counselor recommendations. They competed against other schools in fine art, speech, literature, mathematics, social studies, sciences, and in music. The special subject this year was the Renaissance Period.

Unleashing the Flame of Intellectual Spirit

On the eve of their induction, the inductees knew that they were to be vital to the existence of a prestigious society — they were the National Honor Society. This elite club started off the year by electing officers that would represent them until the close of the school year. Funds were raised by each member selling gift items. N.H.S. members involved themselves in community service by collecting food and toys for the needy. As January edged forward, so did the time for fall induction. Seven new members were added to the already large group. Members found themselves at the disposal of the faculty as they helped with the afternoon tutorial sessions. Their presence was very much appreciated. The National Honor Society and its members set new strides in the field of service. Not only did they perform these tasks to the best of their ability, but they did them with a smile on their face.

The Future Spirit

Child Care was for those students who were interested in working with children for a living. Here the students were prepared for employment in an occupation related to child care. They got first on hand training in the classroom. The students took care of the children by making them lunch and assisting them in many art projects and playing games. Certain holidays were celebrated to the fullest, these included Halloween, Thanksgiving, Christmas, Valentine's Day, St. Patrick's Day, and Easter. So are the children's birthdays. The club was headed by Mrs. Marian Pearce. She was assisted by Judy Sandel and Janie Goforth. The club members and the sponsors worked hard yet they had fun in the process.

Spirit Investigators

This year was filled with many exciting activities. The year started out with an interesting trip to Texas A&M University's Career Day. Club members were exposed to a variety of science careers from Engineering to Medicine. In October, members went to the International Gem and Jewelry Show to view thousands of dollars worth of merchandise. The traditional biological scavenger hunt proved to be very successful. The hunt included a variety of items to find in the areas of chemistry, astronomy, physics, and biology. The members had an enjoyable time and a prosperous year overall.

Building Their Spirit Through Automotives

In Auto Body, students learned to repair and repaint automobiles as well as the rules necessary for personal safety. The skills that were learned trained these students for future employment after graduation. The success and fine workmanship shown in products done in auto body made an excellent reputation for these hard working students.

Building Up the Spirit Link by Link

The Industrial Arts Club consisted of Metal Lab, Drafting, and Wood Lab. The purpose of this club was to bring together students with a common interest. Members exchanged ideas, discussed problems and shared common purposes. In this organization the members created good public relations and good attitudes toward the community and each other.

The club sponsored two fund raisers this past year which were very successful. During October the club cleaned materials. Every year for the big McCullough game, Industrial Arts makes a large spirit chain. The students donate money. For every penny donated one link is added to the chain. The chain is then displayed at the game.

The club upheld many traditions such as; a field and fishing trip, ball games and a hot banquet. Members have always enjoyed these traditions and this past year was not any different.

Members not only worked for fun, they competed with their projects during April and May. They attended local contest and regional contest (BVIASA) and state contest (TIASA). They were very successful in these competitions. All their hard work paid off.

The Hear and Now

This year started with a change in the name of the club from the Sign Language Club to the Hear and Now. Members wanted a name that would catch attention and be updated and creative. Many fun parties were held throughout the year, and at Christmas members signed Christmas carols in the vocational building. A Christmas pageant was held and members signed Christmas carols and various songs for the enjoyment of both the hearing and hearing impaired. The year was very prosperous and successful, and a good time was had by all.

Telina Wallrath and Hayley Merryman signed "God's Grace" in the song "Some Children See Him."

Burning the Home Fires

Learning to function in our modern society was the major goal of the Home and Family Living classes. A wide array of subjects were chosen that would most benefit the students. Some of these subjects were teenage pregnancy, birth control, household budgets, and the laws pertaining to the institution of marriage. Guest speakers played a vital role in educating the watchful students. In January, mock marriages were performed in which the wedding parties consisted of class members. After the glamour of the wedding day was over, the happy brides and grooms had to settle into typical 80's marriages. Household budgets were set up and very soon the couples realized that marriage was no easy task. Sadly, the end of the year came and the class was concluded. Each member found themselves with an added appreciation of the world in which we live.

With spirit and enthusiasm, NFL members began this year successfully. As in years past, the students "promoted the interests of interscholastic debate, oratory, and public speaking by encouraging a spirit of fellowship and by conferring upon deserving candidates a worthy badge of distinction." With inspiration instilled in them by their teacher and sponsor, Mrs. Murphy, the NFL members had a rewarding and unforgettable year. They supported their club by holding a car wash and various other service oriented projects.

The events that the members aren't likely to forget were the tournaments held consecutively throughout the year. The students were pleased with their success at these competitions. Group cooperation and harmony played an important role in NFL this year; it aided in learning processes and the productiveness of the club in general.

This was done through knowledge of our nation's heritage and the practice of democracy. Members worked towards attaining a purposeful life. Towards these goals, members worked on bar-b-que pits, horse trailers, and other major welding projects. Because of this hard work, projects received many awards at competitions.

Spirit Produced A Successful Year

The students in Industrial Electronics made many achievements this year and accomplished all the goals they set for themselves at the beginning of the year. These goals were to prepare for district and state VICA contests, learn parliamentary procedure, and to work harmoniously together. Among their achievements, the students were awarded certificates from White Rodgers Co. of St. Louis, MO, for competition theory exams taken by first year members. They also competed in grade levels with other schools present and placed among the top five percent. These accomplishments were a prime example of the successfulness of the club.

Dressing up with Spirit

It has been said that beauty is in the eye of the beholder, but the Cosmetology Club certainly learned how to enhance physical beauty to make anyone irresistible. Modern techniques were tested at district and state levels in the perm and hair styling trend events. These competitions taught the students the art of working under pressure, practice in public relations by working closely with others, and most importantly the members gained a new sense of dignity and pride in their work due to their outstanding awards of first place in all areas of competition. This talent needed cultivation and sponsor Mrs. Basile fit the bill. Members learned the economical aspect of life by selling combs, brushes, and placemats to supplement their budget for traveling to competitions. Cosmetology Club served as a period to prepare for a future trade and as an artistic outlet for all areas of beauty.

Proud And Strong

Future Farmers of America, known as F.F.A., was involved in many activities this year. Their sponsors were Mr. Froncell Reece, Mr. Charles Parsley, Mr. Rick Vaculin, and Mr. Charles Wellman.

F.F.A. members worked on developing leadership, cooperation, and citizenship. Through its guidance and programs, members selected and worked in intelligent choices of occupations. The members developed character, learned thrift, and practiced patriotism.

Projects included the traditional sale of excellent fruits which were delivered in December. The livestock shows and state competitions once again showed the success the F.F.A. always has.

The Shutterbugs

It was a snap to develop interest in photography this year with the enthusiastic organization of Photography. Whether students looked at photography as a hobby, a new aspect of art to appreciate, or aspired to the fame of Ansel Adams, the informative and enjoyable organization of Photography provided an outlet for these various interests. In addition to the enthusiasm and artistic curiosity of the members, the leadership figure of the club was Mrs. Cindy Dodd, photography teacher and yearbook sponsor. Mrs. Dodd's knowledge, interest, and dedication shed new light on the subject. Students obtained their knowledge from the bottom up by starting with the basics of photography. The mechanics of cameras was studied beginning with a pinhole camera, the most basic construction, and moved to a twin lens camera and concluded their study with a single lens 35 millimeter camera, which is most often used. While handling the tools of the trade, the members also learned how to develop their photographic efforts into actual prints for all to enjoy. With superior leadership and creative members, Photography gave students a chance to explore an art form and develop their knowledge.

Strategic Interests

Did you think chess was a lost game? Just one of those activities you played while lounging on a park bench? Well, a dedicated group of students have dispelled all of those outdated thoughts because chess is here to stay. A growing interest in the game came to the attention of physics teacher Mr. Khatibi at the beginning of the year. Being a chess buff himself, he decided to sponsor an organization to cater to the interests of the students. Though relatively small in size, the group held together with periodic meetings that gave members a chance to battle out new strategies and plays. With strong, interested student officers and a dedicated faculty sponsor, the Chess Club was a new artistic outlet and a fresh breeze among the organizations previously established.

No Job Too Big Or Small

Not only did members of Construction Trades build their futures by learning a valuable trade, but they also served as useful and industrious workers for the present. The skills learned and mastered in class throughout the year were tested at State, Regional, and District competitions reaping many awards and honors. With the professional direction of sponsor Mr. Jordan, students made available to the public picnic tables handcrafted to order. Amidst all of this competitive and commercial business, the members of Construction Trades took part in supporting school spirited programs such as the Vocational Carnival by building all of the booths for the various groups in the rotunda. As a fund raiser, members sold Blue and Gold Sausage for all to enjoy. To reward themselves for their building efforts and to prepare for the competitive season ahead, the Christmas Party gave members a chance to socialize and enjoy the fellowship of their closely knit and prosperous organization.

Professionally Proud in Print

The purpose of Vocational Office Careers Clubs of Texas (VOCCT) was to teach organization, leadership, and to make the students aware of the opportunities available in the office occupations areas. The club elected officers the first week of October to represent them throughout the year. With the support of the officers and Mrs. Cassels, the members were very successful at the competitions attended this past year. The competitions included VOCCT local, area and state contest. The members were proud of each other in their successful awards.

When VOCCT members were not working on how to be a success in the office, they sponsored fundraisers and celebrated the Christmas holidays and the closing of school. To be in this club took a lot of dedication and support from the other members. Toward the end of the year members had achieved what they had been looking for and would be able to use the skills they learned in the future.

Mixing Business with Pleasure

The Home and Economics Related Occupations (HERO) program provided students with amazing opportunities. HERO, a part of the HECE club, enabled students to work various hours at Conroe area businesses. Jobs ranged from gift shop clerks to dietary assistants in a hospital. These positions enriched the students both financially and emotionally. In addition to the unique career opportunities, HERO was involved in the Vocational Program Barbeque, club banquets, and area and state competitions. This program proved to be a positive social outlet and a rare chance to excel in the working world.

Holding Spirit in School and on the Job

Industrial Cooperative Training, more commonly known as ICT, showed students how to develop social leadership and how to be good citizens. Their fund raisers were a barbecue with the other VOC clubs in November and then, in December, they sold Christmas gift items. All of this money was used to hold their Halloween, Christmas, and Valentine dances. They also held their softball game with VICA against DECA. During the year they experienced on the job training. In the classroom under the guidance of Mrs. Bobbie Zinnecker, ICT members learned how to make their lives at work more pleasant. Throughout the year they had lots of fun yet they worked very hard.

Programming With Animation

Data Processing, headed by Mr. Barrett, was an organization that teaches leadership skills dealing with data processing and programming environment. This club met monthly and held several parties. At the beginning of the year they had a "Meet the Members Party" then in December the typical Christmas Party, then around Valentine's Day they had another party. To end the year off they went to Astroworld and Waterworld. They also had a softball game and a pizza party towards the end of the year. To do these fun activities they held two fund raisers. In November they sold popcorn and then, January thru February, they had a date match. Data Processing went to many competitions. They were local, state, and regional data processing/programming contests. Throughout all of these activities the students learned how to enhance their leadership qualifications as well as their ability to deal with others.

Spirit Inspired Designs

The vocational drafting class prepared the students for industry by teaching the use of the CAD computer system, Computer Aided Design. This system enabled them to learn various skills such as mechanical, architectural, plumbing, and electrical drawing. The students participated in the VICA club, Vocational Industrial Clubs of America. This year was a busy one for the club. The members took their drawings to district and state contests where they competed in various areas such as parliamentary procedure and drawing designs. The club held many fundraisers including the selling of calendars, pecans, puzzles, and holiday gifts. This money was used to pay for an annual banquet and other activities. The members enjoyed the club immensely and benefited from the activities and contests.

Marketing for the Future

DECA or Distributive Education Clubs of America is an organization that gives help to those students enrolled in professional organization in marketing education. In charge of this club is Mrs. Becker. Every year they play a softball game against ICT and VICA. DECA also held an employer-employee appreciation banquet in May. This was to say thanks to the employers for the opportunities and benefits that they had gained. During the school year DECA went to several competitions. In the fall they attended a mini-contest and then in the spring area and state competitions. To pay for their trips for competition and their employer-employee banquet they held several fundraisers. These fundraisers included a barbecue in November, and the selling of gift items.

Independent Spirit

This year, the VOE (Vocational Office Education) Lab class, decided to go it alone. They branched off from the OEA club that was formerly composed of the lab and co-op students to form a combined class club in which every lab student participated. Their main goal was to learn to use various types of office machines and how to achieve success in an office job. Mrs. Elliott, the VOE-lab teacher, strived to teach the students correct office procedures and to maintain a friendly working atmosphere. District and national competitions allowed the students to utilize skills they mastered in class. By the end of the year, the students were well on their way to being prepared to join the working world. This year was a successful and enjoyable one for the VOE-lab students.

Office Education Association (OEA) was formed for students interested in business and office careers. This year, the club was designed exclusively for VOE-co-op students. VOE-co-op students learned how to operate different types of office machines such as Xerox typewriters, IBM typewriters, computers, and 10-key calculators. They were also taught skills and techniques that would enable them to achieve success in their jobs.

Through club projects, the members of OEA were able to develop new friendships and exceptional leadership qualities. The students also refined their jobs and decision-making skills through area, state, and national contests. The OEA club sold cookies in the fall to raise money to support various social activities. The club proved to be fun and beneficial to its members.

As the varsity Tigers walked off the field on November 7, 1986 the scoreboard told the story. They had come up victorious over the McCullough Highlanders by a score of 19-14. But their happiness was dampened by the fact that they had to win by ten points to advance into the playoffs. Coach Mike Barber felt, though, this was by far the Tiger's best game of the season. The Conroe Kiwanis Club began the tradition of giving a trophy to the winner of the traditional cross-town rivalry, the Tiger's made a home for the trophy for the first year.

The Tigers were continuously plagued by injuries throughout the season. Losing such key players as Paul Hansen, Kevin Castleberry, Clayton Nunn, Robbie Edwards, and Gabe Collard produced a void in the starting lineup, but hard working Jeremy Laningham, Shane Wilburn, and Scott Spencer proved they could competently fill their shoes.

Around mid-December, the All-District team was announced and thirteen Tigers were honored. These included: First team; Scotty Simpson — offensive lineman, Jeromy Burnitz — kick returner, Mark Haynes (a junior) — line backer. Second team; Raymond Isbell — running back, Tom Wallace — defensive end, Clayton Nunn — secondary. Honorable mention; Billy Ballard, James Glaspie, Ray Deyoe, Jeff Staples, Scott Adamson and Shawn David Reeves. These Tigers along with the rest of the fighting Tigers made us proud this year.

Future Successors

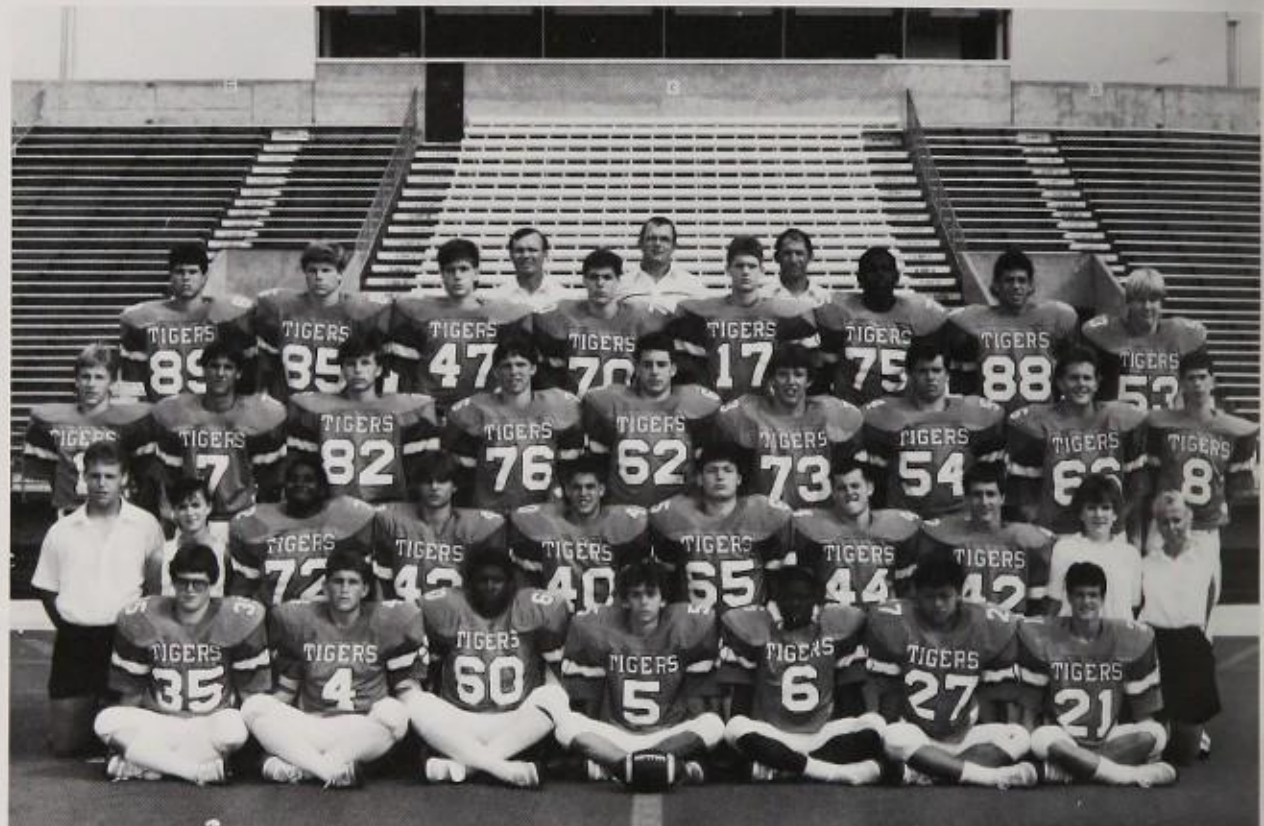

Next year looks quite promising if what this year's junior varsity team accomplished continues next season. The J.V. played many tremendous games which made up for those few heartbreakers. There were many exceptional individual performances but yet they still worked together as a team. Although they were denied the district title the players performed well both on and off the field. This year's junior varsity team had great depth in all the positions and this was proved throughout the season.

Trainers

Healing Spirits

A dedicated group of young men and women stayed behind the scenes and devoted much time working during the summer and after school to prepare the athletes of Conroe High School for competition. Under the supervision and leadership of Mike Saly and Karen Dove, the student trainers learned to treat various injuries as well as bandaging and taping the athletes before their competitions. The trainers were scheduled and required to attend all sporting events and be right on hand in case of an emergency.

Head Athletic Trainer, Mike Saly could be found quite often wrapping ankles for various athletes.

Fresh Spirit

Coming into high school competition, the freshman "A" team managed to end the season with five wins, four losses and one tied game. The "B" team pulled out with seven wins, two losses and one tied game. Coaches Cobia, West and Stinson kept these young men many hours after school and working hard. These young men learned many things as the year progressed. The drastic change from junior high football to high school football was one thing in particular. They were no longer junior high rivals, but a team of determined young men striving to make their mark in Conroe High football history.

After intercepting a pass, running it back up the field was the next step.

A freshman player caught the ball and tried to gain yardage.

Sophomore Football

Moving On Up

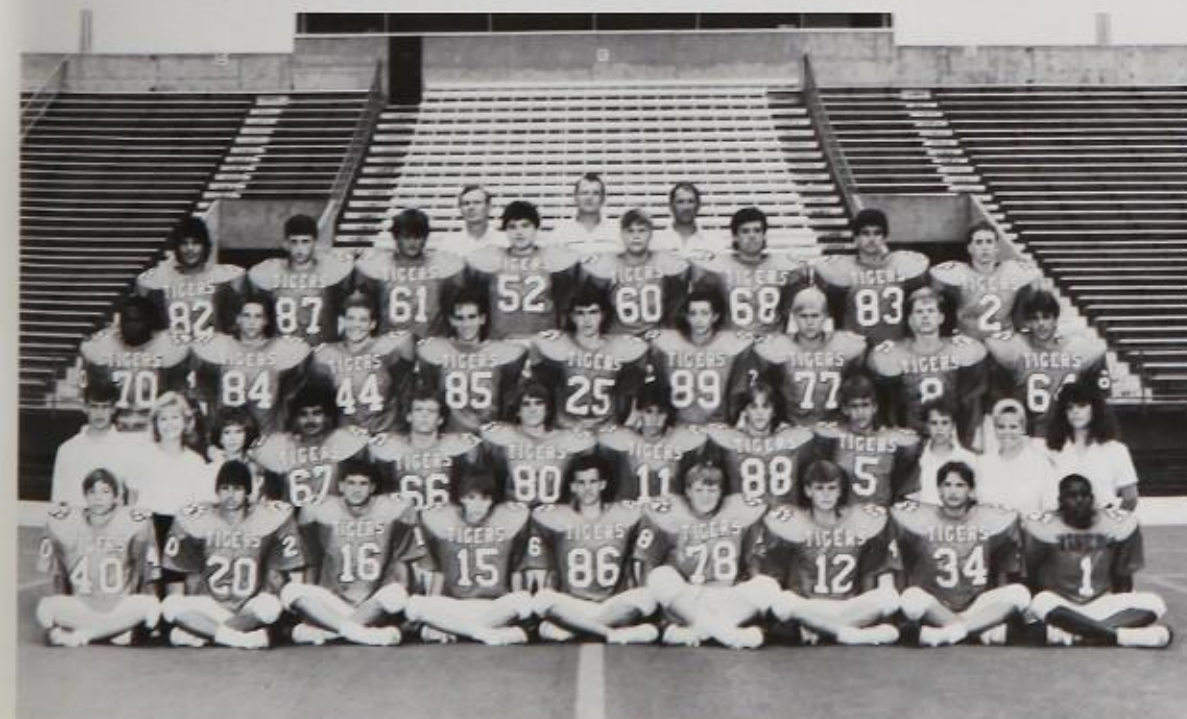

The sophomore football team had quite a trying year. They might not have had a winning season, but they did not give up. Hard work and determination were present each day at every practice. Coaches Ferrell, Snider, Romero and Johnson were proud of the players for sticking to practice. As they worked each day, they exemplified that Conroe High School spirit both on and off the football field. No one could ever call these boys losers because they showed their Conroe spirit, and that alone had made them winners.

Show of Excellence

This year's Volleyball teams, Freshmen, Junior Varsity, and Varsity, continued to prove their excellence both on and off the court. The Freshman and Junior Varsity teams ended up with records of 10-4 to provide coaches with an optimistic view of the future. The Varsity team finished in fourth place in District. They also had four members named to All District: Monica Fontenot (1st team), Kendra Guinn and Shannon Webb (2nd team), and Deanna Dossett (Honorable Mention). Off the court, two members were nominated to All-State Academic: Kendra Guinn and Monica Fontenot. Coach Parker, who has had 9 winning seasons out of 12, was very proud of her players.

One Step Beyond

Competing in what was possibly the toughest district in the state, the Conroe Tiger cross country team fared well. With only one returning senior, Keith Isbell, and the rest a fresh young team, they really had to pull together. They performed well at all their meets with determination. With this year's young team returning, next year should be a success. The team members have gained experience and know what to expect next season. With added effort, spirit, and Coach Carter's coaching, we can expect to see another winning season.

Courage to Compete

Cross Country is a sport which calls for the athlete to run great distances and overcome obstacles in order to finish. This sums up the very difficult season the Girl's Cross Country team had. The girls were plagued with injuries this year; however, their determination and pride in Conroe High School helped them to compete and finish the season with their heads held high.

Mauria Howard (Sr. 3 year letterman), Heather Glassel (Jr. 2 year letterman), and Sharon Courtney (Jr. 1 year letterman) worked even harder with the absence of injured teammates Cheryl Darland and Michelle Roberson. In the district meet, these Conroe girls could not compete as a team as they did not have enough healthy members. The girls participated individually in spite of this, and made Conroe High School proud to have such dedicated students.

Coach Laura Schmidt said, "I feel the group of young ladies that represented Conroe High School this year had to run and practice with a lot of inner determination. As we didn't compete that much as a team during the season — it was an obstacle that they successfully overcame and ran in meets as true competitors."

Swimming

Splashing to Victory

The 1986-87 Conroe High School Swim Team was one of the best teams to come through in years. Although the team had only a handful of sparkling individuals, the team had exceptional depth. With McCullough as one of the top fifteen teams in the state, the year looked long. But with strong inspirational motivation provided by team captains Bill Swoap and Tony Plummer, they pulled through. Coach Tom Harwood, in his last year, really displayed an emotional spark. Throughout the season, the team fared well in competition. Highlights of the season were when the Conroe team won the District Invitational and the triangular meet between Oak Ridge, New Caney and, of course, our Tigers. With all of the talent and motivational aspects, the team sensed that the District title was not far off.

The Love Net

The Conroe High 1986-87 tennis team began the season with four returning lettermen and a foreign exchange student on the boys tennis team. This looked to be one of the team's best seasons in many years. Jose Novo brought his skills from Spain to Conroe, Texas, and was the top singles player on the team. Cameron Cooke, a junior, also played singles. Corbin Cooke and team captain Andy Watson played doubles, as well as Jim Sage and Jeff Roberts. The girls team started the season with four juniors and five sophomores on varsity. Heather Boughton, team captain, felt the season would prove to be a rebuilding year for the team. She said, "We have several enthusiastic sophomores which will help as the season progresses." Although this team was young they hoped to improve as the season continued. Coach A. C. Blunt felt the players worked well as a team, and the experience of the older players put them in contention for the District 15-5A title.

Spirited To The Tee

Under the leadership of a new coach, Carol Raica, the Tigerette golf team began practice with the start of school. Although tournaments and competitions did not begin until late January, the team got off to an early start by working after school to improve their strokes and putts.

As the season progressed, it became evident that the long hours of practice had paid off. The team came out ahead by a considerable number of strokes in each tournament. The girls had the confidence and capability to carry on Conroe's winning tradition as they approached the district tournament.

Swinging to the Top

This year's golf team had a hard act to follow considering that for the two previous years the Conroe High School golf team were District 16-5A State Champions. With five returning seniors to lead the way, they should prevail once again. With two members of the team playing in those championship years, all of the leadership and motivational techniques were provided. As usual, Coach Creed was an emotion builder for the times when the team wasn't performing to their maximum capabilities. The season started relatively late compared to the rest of the sports at Conroe High, but that just gave them more of the headlines and glory that they deserved.

The Beastie Boys

The 1986-87 boy's basketball team fought hard to prove they were the best in the district. With four starters returning from last year's District Championship Season, this year's team was dominated by seniors. This gave the team great expectations for success during their season. In spite of great individual accomplishments, the team had unfortunate incidents occur one after the other. Four of the seven pre-district losses were by four points or less.

District play was much the same with four district losses by two or less. This coupled with a House Bill Seventy-Two blow left the team's hopes dashed.

Terry Jefferson, an early signer of Texas

Christian University, led the district in scoring with a twenty-three point average. Chris Newman lit it up from the outside while Chili McFadden ran the show. Marcus Wright developed into an all around player and Brian Auld and Bruce Gardner provided solid play from the bench.

Despite these problems the team still fought and kept their spirits and determination up. The games were so close the boys felt they had reason to fight and did so throughout the course of the season. They played hard and under the coaching of Coach Harold Wilder, they showed their pride and all of Conroe felt it and shared it with them.

I really hope you are at these days, you finally start getting some sleep, though!! Love you,

Freshman Basketball

Fresh Spirit

The Freshmen performed exceptionally well this past season by defeating opponent after opponent without much trouble. The junior highs provided our High School with some fine talent which was shown monotonously through the long hard path from which the season was traveled upon. Coach Larry Cunningham helped the freshmen adjust to high school life by motivational and inspirational tactics.

Up and Coming

Sophomore basketball players proved, yet again, that Conroe is a force to be reckoned with. These young tigers, under the leadership of Coach Mike Crowl, built a reputation for themselves out of hard work and determination. Although they were young, much talent could be seen, which leaves Conroe with a very bright outlook for continued success of Conroe Basketball. The boys gave everything they had, so they can carry on the tradition and "Pack the Pit" year after year.

JV Basketball

Proving They Can

A spirited fresh group of young men contended to perform well enough to earn respect as holders of the district champions. The team was off on a furious pace at the beginning of the season and held this pace throughout. With some fine talent shining through from the underclassmen on the team they didn't lack depth. They were led by more experienced players who had seen rougher and harder times. Coach Tom Johnson strove to get the most and best out of his dedicated performers. With the upcoming year awaiting more of the same from these players, the future looks secure.

Shots of Spirit

The Conroe High girls' varsity basketball team began the 1986-87 season on a positive note. Coach Marsha Porter made sure the team was in top condition by scheduling hours of strenuous workouts after school. The team began running as much as three miles cross country and attempted to sharpen their game by playing one-on-one and running through various rebounding drills. Later in the year, the girls held scrimmages against the boys' teams.

The 1986-87 team had quite a few underclassmen and returning starters, which makes the team a promising powerhouse in the future.

Carrie Brock looked at her teammates and contemplated on who to pass to.

Struggling with the ball, Shannon Farlee tried to keep it away from her opponent.

Dribbling to Victory

The Tigerettes proved, yet again, what a powerhouse Conroe is in District basketball. The girls worked hard all year, and tried to stay eligible and in shape for the season. Their hard work paid off. They travelled to a tournament in Huntsville and realized their effort. The girls came away with first place among their rival teams. Their winning ways did not end here. The girls continued to win and dominate throughout the year. They have always been among the forerunners in district, and this year was no different. Our girls Junior Varsity basketball team showed their pride in Conroe High with their winning ways.

Freshman Basketball

Young Hoopsters

As freshmen, the new members of Conroe High School might find it more difficult than their previous years. However, the freshman girls, with the help of their coach Beth Collier, mastered a new school along with many basketball skills. The girls proved that they could keep up with any team in the district. Having had fewer members than most freshman teams, they had to work extra hard to keep in shape. With their grueling practice, and teamwork, they finished with a season they can be proud of, and the fans can applaud.

Maximum Performance

The 1986-87 Tiger track team had high hopes for this year's season. The more experienced runners, such as seniors Kelly Jamail, Kevin Smith, and David Self proved to be great assets to the team. The track team attended many meets both in and out of town. They prepared for these meets with practice after school. Coach Carter demanded their best and hoped for an exciting season. They proved their abilities and ran a season they and the rest of Conroe High School could again be proud of.

Set the Pace

The 1987 girls track team looked forward to a winning season. The team started practice in January to prepare for the season's meets. The Tigrette team was younger than years past and these teammates had a lot to look forward to. The older runners had experience and enjoyed track in their previous years. Mauria Howard, a senior, has been an asset to the team. She said, "It's been fun and I have enjoyed the meets." Two returning juniors, Shannon Webb and Cheryl Darland both agreed. Shannon claims made her a competitor as well as teaching her how to participate as a teammate. One of the team members was a German exchange student Hella who claimed she enjoyed track a lot while here. Coach Laura Schmidt had this to say about track — "Self-motivation, self-discipline and a desire to be the best you can possibly be are the major ingredients for a successful track athlete. The program at C.H.S. endeavors to produce fine athletes, scholars, and competitors who will carry the proud traditions of our school with pride and success. Although the track team is young and many are stepping into varsity competition for the first time, I feel we have a substantial core of good athletes that will bring many accomplishments to the 1987 team." Under the direction of Coach Schmidt, who has coached the girls through many successful seasons, the year looked to be a winner.

J. Partin set the pace for the girls.

The Chosen Eleven

As a relatively new sport at Conroe High, soccer proved to be widely accepted. Each game averaged approximately one hundred and fifty to two hundred fans. Those fans were faithful and showed loyalty to the team by attending the home games as well as making road trips to the out of town matches.

The team got off to an overwhelming start despite the loss of three starters, seniors Lee Mashburn, David Burrow, and junior, Ethan Baldwin, due to injuries. These players quickly recovered and were back playing by mid-season. Also, the fact that eleven key players graduated in 1986, put even more pressure on the players and Coach Richburg. The pressure on the part on Coach Richburg was due to the trouble in finding the starting eleven. Every player was out to prove himself to the coach and therefore, practiced many hours to perfect their plays. After the long, tedious task of searching to find the maximum amount of skill, Coach Richburg found a young, but promising starting team.

Coach Richburg paid careful attention to the game as Conroe moved in to score.

Bases Loaded

The Conroe High School Baseball players were undoubtedly in one of the toughest districts in the state. However, a team with thirteen seniors, five of whom were returning starters, gave Coach Ferrell and the rest of the team a few of the many reasons they had to be extremely optimistic. Another reason for Coach Ferrell's optimism was the boy's attitudes, and their desire to work hard for success. To top it off, the boys had last year's playoff team to remember. Their quest to live up to this reputation became a goal to shoot for. Our Tiger Baseball team was a special group of young men who made us proud of our school.

Bases Covered

The 1987 softball season opened with the girls' drive and determination setting the pace. The team was faced with grueling schedules of practice and many out of town and home games. The girls reflected their Tiger spirit in its truest form as the players met each challenge.

Fair weather permitting, the team made the Montgomery Country Park their "home base" — but even during a rain storm the girls could be found working out in the gym. Under the direction of Coach Joy Spears and the team's fourth season they again built their reputation into something for Conroe High School to be proud of. Coach Spears demanded the most from each team member and got what she wanted in terms of a winning season.

Much time was spent at Montgomery County Park.

A Winter Celebration

1987 King and Queen of the FLARE

Raymond Isbell and Angie Pollock

As winter drew to a close, the Flare Staff held a "Winter Celebration," its forty-ninth annual Coronation. This celebration with all its glitz and glamour was the event of the year. The night many had anticipated with excitement as the King and Queen of the Flare would be crowned.

The stage was adorned by glittering snowflakes, lights, and beautiful poinsettias which complimented each club's candidate. These candidates were dressed in elegant bright formals and tuxedos. The celebration began as the Masters of Ceremonies, Nancy Guinn and Paul Harris, introduced each candidate. After the presentation of the candidates, Rodney Moore sang a memorable serenade of "She Believes in Me" which led into the night's intermission full of talented entertainment. Such talent was Tracey Thomas singing "Raining on the Inside," Kim Lisenbe, singing "We Shall Behold Him," Jennifer Lowe singing "After You've Gone," and Joe Carroll as our comedian doing "Brighton Beach Memoirs." After intermission was the introduction of the children of the court, a portion of the night's festivities that would have made the evening incomplete if left out. Then came the moment we all had waited for as Raymond Isbell was named the 1987 King of the Flare and Angie Pollock was named the 1987 Queen of the Flare. The Royal Ballet was then performed by Catherine Clay in honor of the 1987 King and Queen. Rodney Moore ended the night with his final serenade of "The Search is Over."

The curtain closed and the audience buzzed with excitement from this "Winter Celebration." When the last person left, the memories lingered that would last a lifetime.

NOVA Instantaneous Hot Water Systems Solid State • Computer-Controlled • All Electric

(Meets FHA, VA Requirements)

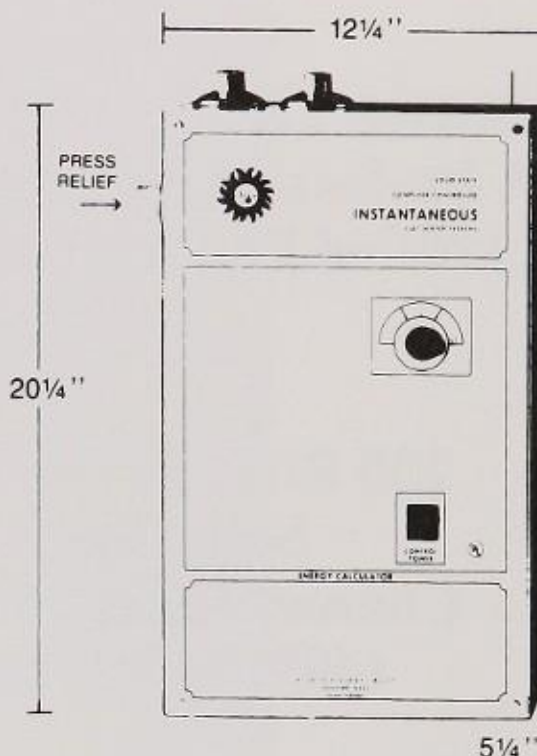

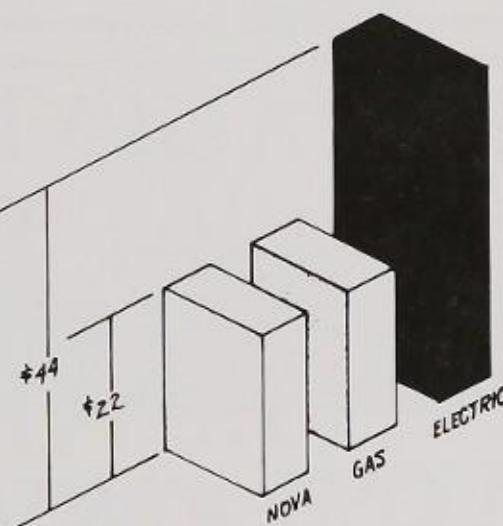

USE NOVA INSTEAD OF A CONVENTIONAL 52 GALLON TANK UNIT

- ☐ Lightweight and compact
- ☐ More cost-effective and efficient than conventional hot water heaters
- ☐ Provides a continuous, constant supply of INSTANT hot water
- ☐ Keeps hot water at same temperature until you change the dial
- ☐ Advanced, computer-controlled design eliminates troublesome flow switches
- ☐ Mounts to the wall, to save space
- ☐ Built-in thermostat
- ☐ Conveniently located controls
- ☐ Turns off and on in seconds
- ☐ Virtually maintenance free with NO moving parts
- ☐ Easy to install in a central location
- ☐ Multiple residential and commercial applications
- ☐ Readily available, replacement heating elements
- ☐ High pressure relief valve is standard
- ☐ Manufactured in the U.S. and backed by a 5 Year Limited Warranty
- ☐ Available in six different models to suit your needs
- ☐ NO minimum flow or pressure requirements

Compact Design Saves Space. The NOVA System packs a lot of power in a very compact package. Because it's smaller than a standard-size medicine cabinet and weighs just 26 pounds, it can be mounted almost anywhere. Also, because NOVA Systems are wall mounted and don't require any outside vents, they can be installed in a central location, which reduces floor space and plumbing requirements. This can also reduce installation costs.

SHIPPING WEIGHT 28 LBS.

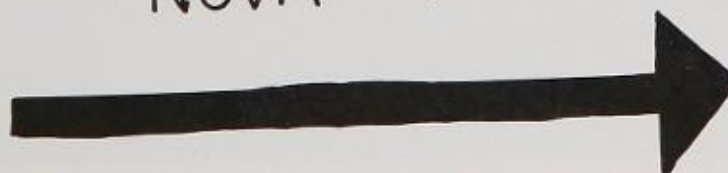

Immmediate Cost Savings. With energy costs soaring, now is the time to switch to an energy-efficient instantaneous hot water system. Make that choice a NOVA.

Saying goodbye

Adios, Hasta Manana, Avoir, Later Days . . . these were all different ways of saying the same thing . . . Good-bye . . . something many Conroe High School students found hard to say on June 3, 1987. For the seniors, this would be the last time they would walk the halls as CHS students. The next time they strolled down those corridors, they would be CHS alumni. They said good-bye to life-long friends and said hello to college and the rest of their life. Juniors looked forward to filling those shoes emptied by the seniors. They had their magazine drive behind them and their class rings on their fingers and were ready to be able to walk up and tell someone, "Hey, I'm a senior now!" The sophomores were still caught in the middle, but were excited about the prospect of finally becoming upperclassmen. The "fish" decided that as of the last day of school, they were not fish anymore. They began to decide how to give the incoming freshmen the same kidding they received only a mere nine months before. They were actually going to get to sit down at the pep rallies! Each class had something different to look forward to, but they all realized that their experiences at Conroe High had helped them learn, grow, and prepare for what the future held for them!

colophon

2000 copies of the 1987 Flare, Volume 49, were printed by Taylor Publishing Company in Dallas, Texas. The paper of 432 pages is 80 lb. matte with Symthe binding. The standard body type was 10pt. Helvetica Bold Condensed for the body copy and 8pt. for the captions. The cover is made of silver mylar with angora grain with black overtone. The local Taylor Representative is Mark David.

Well babe

It's been a great year and it's almost over. I think you'll always have a special place in my heart.
Better always keep in touch. Love ya, Shannon Oh yeah, Accounting was great too! and Mrs. Fry's class even better. Guess the senior life was just meant to be hard.
P.S. you owe me a hug at grad! See you then. Sham

LISA POOH -

Well we've had some good times together and hopefully we will have many more. I hope you have a good future ahead of you because you really deserve it. Thanks for always being there when I needed you. Keep in touch.
Love ya
"Big Cheese" Lisa

Well it's been fun!
I've been a real person. to bud we don't see each other more the weekends. Have in this summer.

Well sweets it's been a very long year and you rarely even talked to me. I believe that you started talking to me about a month ago. You really hurt me because I thought you hated me. Anyway, you are a very nice and attractive young lady. Sometimes I would just look at you because you look so good.
We never even had a chance to go out, even though you probably wouldn't have went out with me. But you never know maybe one of these days. (Hint) I wish you all the luck in whatever you do + you better keep in touch + I mean that.
Well it's been fun. See you at graduation.

P.S. You also owe me something at graduation (hug maybe).

Ok ya, I might be having a party
some time around graduation. I'll let you know.

to me ever since I moved here! thank to

What memories we have of that!

Remember all the nights we went out
Vodka, Bacardi & all! (ha!) what fun it was!!

I hope we will always stay close and you know that whenever you need a friend I will always, always be here for you! I hope we can keep in touch while we are off at school! good luck in the future!
I know the best will come to you!

I love you!

Jules

Lisa. (LH-cheez-z)

It's been great getting to know you. But I wish we got a little bit closer. One thing bothers me... I hate to see a good looking young lady go to waste. I know you think that being a ^(y/n) senior and still a virgin is a drag.

So this summer or even sooner if you want to splurge, give me a call and I will fix you up.

(NANA) I really hope we stay friends forever because I love ya. I want to wish you good luck w/ the future but I know you won't need it. and as far as the guys go. well. Have a great summer and God bless you Mark Janowski have spent more time together. Husten to me - sounds like we're dying or something.

Shit, we're just beginning to live! I'll be here w/ Richard pulling 15 hrs. a semester wherever. So you'll know where to find me! That's get the two Sambaris together and go parting - OK!
Please keep in touch : don't get in too much trouble!

I LOVE YOU!
Michelle
